Cowboys Work In Chicago

Busy Loop Sees Police Lead 8-Cow Roundup

CHICAGO — It was roundup time in Chicago for a couple of hours Wednesday, from the near West Side to the Loop, as six cowboys and scores of policemen chased eight runaway cows.

The cows, headed for the stockyards from Sycamore, Ill., broke loose from a truck which fell apart near the busy Congress Street Expressway. Orin Hall, of Serena, Ill., the truck driver, called police.

Squad cars, motorcycle policemen and patrolmen moved in to the heavily populated district to help corral the cattle. The cowboys, on horseback, came galloping from the stockyards.

The cows, bewildered by the city sights, took off in all directions after they walked from the disabled truck. One got as far as the downtown district, at State and Congress streets. Startled shoppers broke out with "Yippee" cheers as they watched the chase.

TRAFFIC SLOWED on the expressway and in other streets where the cows roamed. One ran head-on into a car. Another suffered two broken legs when it rammed a policeman's motorcycle. One tired old boss rested on the sidewalk in front of a tavern.

After two hours of chasing the frightened animals, the city range riders captured seven. The other stray was shot and killed by a policeman. He said he fired in self-defense when the cow charged.

The other seven aren't long for this world, either. They are headed for slaughter.

Lockbourne Fund OK'd by Air Force

CINCINNATI — Release of approximately $1,089,000 by the U.S. Air Force for construction work at Lockbourne Air Force Base was announced today.

Col. Joseph Friedlander Jr., Air Force installations representative for the Ohio River region, said the money will be used to build a crew readiness building and its utilities for the Strategic Air Command alert program.

Weather Control Inquiry Is Sought

WASHINGTON — Sen. Bridges (R-NH) called today for an early inquiry by a special Senate committee into the possibility of controlling the weather from space.

Bridges, a member of the Senate's Space Committee, said:

"The nation which first finds the way to influence the weather will have within its hands a powerful weapon for peace or war," he said.

More Than 200,000 Ohioans Now Drawing State Idle Pay

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The number of Ohioans collecting jobless benefits climbed past the 200,000 mark in the week ended last Saturday, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation (BUC) reported today.

The new high-water mark of compensation claims is 200,950. There has been an increase in continuing claims of roughly 10,000 a week for the last four weeks. Average for the week ended Feb. 15 was 190,344.

The average number of continuing claims per week in February has been 185,865, a new record since the BUC was founded in 1939. Previous high average for February was 152,712 in January 1950.

The BUC estimates that about 7 per cent of Ohioans subject to the unemployment compensation law are now drawing jobless benefits—slightly below the national rate.

Industries hardest hit, the BUC reports, are in the durable goods manufacturing field. Nearly half—43 per cent—of Ohio's benefit recipients are in steel, machine-tools, automobiles, aircraft and parts. Manufacturing industries as a group accounted for seven of every 10 benefit recipients. Four out of every five claimants are men.

At present, three of every five

Schools Said No Better Than Boards

ST. LOUIS — American educators think the public is overlooking two important facts:

If the nation's high schools leave something to be desired, it's primarily the public's own fault. If an overhaul is needed, it's up to the public to bring one about.

The schools are only what the school boards make them, say the educators, and the school boards are the public.

Said J. C. Hoglan, superintendent of schools, Marshalltown, Iowa: "Modern high schools are in the hands of the local communities that have built and financed them. What they (the high schools) do or do not do, therefore, is in the hands of the people of each community."

Said M. A. McGhehey, executive secretary of the Indiana School Boards Assn.: "If we really believe in public control of education, then we must identify the best in local leadership and persuade these leaders to become school board members."

Bob Hope Starts Trip To Make Soviet Film

NEW YORK — Bob Hope is off for the Soviet Union, where he says he wants to film one or two television shows.

The comedian left by plane Tuesday for London en route to Moscow.

He did not have a Soviet visa but said he expected to obtain the necessary clearance after reaching England.

Hope said he wanted to attend a screening of one of his films in Moscow March 4, arranged as a cultural exchange program.

claimants are concentrated in Ohio's big city areas—120,000 in metropolitan areas and only 80,000 in all other areas of the state.

Cleveland has nearly 42,000 claimants, Cincinnati more than 22,000; Canton, Toledo and Youngstown all stand close to the 11,000 mark, and Columbus, Dayton and Akron around 8,000 each. But, the BUC adds:

"Surprisingly, perhaps, the rate of covered unemployment in these big cities as a group is below that of Ohio's smaller cities as a group. Among the smaller Ohio cities with comparatively high rates are Bridgeport, Hamilton-Middletown, Lorain-Elyria, Portsmouth, Sandusky, Steubenville, Warren and Zanesville."

Last month, eligible claimants averaged $33.60 a week and total payments came to 18½ million dollars. But, at the beginning of this month, the balance in the BUC fund stood at nearly 602 millions.

The BUC pointed out, however, what it called "a significant element of stability in Ohio's economy."

Whiteside, who has heatedly denied the Schwartz charges, elaborated Tuesday on the one-sixth interest he said he gave Mack in Miami's Stembler-Shelden insurance agency, a firm doing business with the Channel 10 winner.

Whiteside testified earlier Mack had received almost $10,000 from the insurance interest from 1953 through 1956 without a cent of cost to Mack. Asked if the transfer were made to Mack "just out of friendship," Whiteside replied: "Of that you may rest assured."

He added that Mack supplied leads to the insurance firm, entitling him to a share in profits. However, Whiteside said Mack hadn't provided any leads since being named to the FCC by President Eisenhower in 1955.

IN 1957, Whiteside said, Mack received nothing from the insurance company but his ownership participation interest was paid to Andar, Inc., which had been an inactive corporation. Whiteside said he had transferred to Mack the outstanding stock of Andar, Inc., which he said had no value.

Discussing possible violations, Harris said Mack's interest in the insurance firm "is a violation of the communications act" of 1934. And the chairman noted emphatically that the penalty for violating the act is $10,000 or jail.

WASHINGTON — A Citizens-for-Foreign-Aid movement took root today, launched with an impassioned plea by President Eisenhower to combat opponents who say "billions for armament, but not one cent for peace!"

Movie czar Eric Johnston undertook the task of setting up a permanent nongovernmental committee. The group, with headquarters in Washington, will seek to build public support for military and economic aid programs abroad.

Its immediate objective is to win congressional passage of the administration's $3.9 billion foreign aid bill.

FCC Probers See Violation Of U.S. Laws

House Panel Delves Deeper into Finances Of Commission Member

WASHINGTON — House probers, amid increasing talk of law violations, took another look today at financial transactions involving Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the special House subcommittee conducting the probe said Mack and others involved in the bitter fight over Miami's channel 10 TV license appear to have violated the law and opened themselves to prosecution.

Miami Atty. Thurman A. Whiteside, against whom some of Harris' statements were directed, denied that he had violated any law.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Rogers described as "not correct" a report that the Justice Department has taken steps looking toward Mack's possible removal.

"That is not our function," he said. "Prosecutions are a matter for the department to decide. Removals are matters for the President to decide."

ROGERS SAID an FBI investigation of the case is not yet completed, and he declined to speculate on any possible moves toward prosecution.

Rogers ordered the FBI probe last week after the subcommittee's ousted counsel Bernard Schwartz testified Mack had accepted money from Whiteside and pledged his vote to Public Service Television, Inc., a National Airlines subsidiary which got the contested Miami TV license. Schwartz said Whiteside represented Public Service.

Whiteside, who has heatedly denied the Schwartz charges, elaborated Tuesday on the one-sixth interest he said he gave Mack in Miami's Stembler-Shelden insurance agency, a firm doing business with the Channel 10 winner.

Whiteside testified earlier Mack had received almost $10,000 from the insurance interest from 1953 through 1956 without a cent of cost to Mack. Asked if the transfer were made to Mack "just out of friendship," Whiteside replied: "Of that you may rest assured."

French Minister Is Bitter In Attacking U. S. Policies

PARIS — A sweeping attack by French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau on America's policy in the Arab world was seen today as additional evidence that France will not be pushed into any U.S.-engineered compromise with Tunisia.

Pineau's blast Tuesday night was one more indication of the difficulties facing U. S. diplomat Robert Murphy and a British colleague named by their governments to exert "good offices" to bring France and her former North African protectorate back together.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba said in Tunis after his first conference with Murphy that any French-Tunisian settlement must take the Algerian rebellion into account. The French already have said flatly the only Algerian angle they will discuss is how to cut off Tunisian aid to the rebels.

The French Parliament's upper house, after hearing Pineau's attack on U. S. actions, voted 271-14 for a resolution that "resumption of normal relations with Tunisia should have nothing to do with the Algerian situation."

Pineau's attack was the sharpest blast at the U. S. government from a top French official in a long time.

There was no immediate protest from U. S. Ambassador Amory Houghton against Pineau's speech. There was no immediate reaction in Paris to an official statement in Washington that some American military aid equipment was used in the French air raid Feb. 8 on the Tunisian village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef, which triggered the crisis.

Douglas Dillon, deputy under-secretary of state and former ambassador to France, said there "was certainly no excuse" for such use. He said the United States intends to "take every precaution" to make sure it does not happen again.

Meanwhile, the French announced that Algerian rebels have launched a major new offensive. The French admitted 69 of their men killed and 11 missing in four days of fighting, reportedly more than they have lost all winter.

French units have fought six pitched battles since Feb. 23.

French officials speculated that the Rebel offensive was timed to coincide with the French-Tunisian crisis focusing attention on the Algerian rebellion.

Navy Vanguard Firing Readied

Launching by Weekend Is Still on Program

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — The Navy has remedied a propellant shortage that helped delay a test launching of the Vanguard satellite rocket.

Other difficulties—minor electrical troubles and balky valves and other "plumbing" that also served to prevent a launching planned for early this week—have not yet been eliminated.

The Navy still hopes to launch the Vanguard before the weekend, and thus leave the way clear for the Army to attempt to send a second Explorer satellite — in the nose of a Jupiter C rocket—into an orbit next week.

The propellant in short supply—one of the seven propellants used in the three-stage Vanguard—was propane.

The gas is used for the auxiliary jets that control the second stage of the Vanguard when it is coasting, at a speed of 9,000 miles an hour, after its engine burns out 140 miles above the earth.

A NEW SUPPLY was trucked in. How the shortage developed was not made clear.

A Navaho missile made a round trip at the test center here Tuesday, but it was not as planned.

The missile, last of its type to be tested, left the launching pad, turned over in mid-air and headed back to earth spouting flames. A safety device, operated by ground controls, destroyed the vehicle.

Dethroned 'Miss U.S.' Is Granted Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Dethroned as Miss United States in last year's Miss Universe contest because she was a Mrs., Leona Gage is single again.

She divorced Air Force Sgt. Gene Ennis Tuesday. Alleging mental cruelty, she testified he was "mean, made me so upset and nervous I couldn't work."

Close Senate Vote Predicted On Postage Rate Hike Bill

WASHINGTON — Both sides predicted a close vote today as the Senate continued its debate over whether the out-of-town letter stamp should be raised to 4 or 5 cents.

Final Senate action on an overhaul of postal rates is not expected until later in the week, in any case, since efforts are to be made to tie it to pay raises for the 500,000 postal workers. Both sides have agreed that rate questions will be settled first.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), leading the fight for the temporary 5-cent stamp on out-of-town letters, said he believed the outcome would be very close.

Democratic sources said the decision might come by a margin of as little as two votes although Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said he believed the 4-cent rate would win.

Before the Senate is a bill written by its Postoffice Committee to increase all classes of rates by $747 million a year. This compares with new revenue of $527 million provided in the measure passed last year by the House. That bill provided a 4-cent rate for all letters.

3 Men Arrested In Lima Fur Theft

CLEVELAND — Three Cleveland ex-convicts were arrested today for theft of $15,000 worth of furs from a Lima store.

On a tip from Lima detectives, police raided the home of Anthony Buffa, 37, of suburban Warrensville Heights.

He was absent, but Warrensville Heights police sent word to Cleveland detectives, who arrested him in a downtown bar. They said about half the furs were found in Buffa's home.

The other two men, John Abbey, 51, of Cleveland Heights, and Salvatore Magnasco, 34, Cleveland, were picked up in a car near Buffa's home.

2 Electrical Unions Voting On Contract

COLUMBUS — Members of two International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers locals were voting today on whether to accept or reject a new contract proposal by the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. Union officials emphasized it was not a strike vote.

The balloting was to continue all day. The union negotiating committee has recommended that the membership reject the proposal.

If the members follow its recommendation, the committee said.

Eleven of the 19 Columbus and Southern Ohio employees in Circleville are members of the IBEW, according to Eldred Parsons, manager of the Circleville Division.

He said they are all maintenance and construction workers. The other eight employees are supervisory personnel, office workers and meter readers.

In connection with the same congressional inquiry, Eisenhower was asked whether his chief aide, Sherman Adams, acted improperly in writing a pair of letters dealing with matters before the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Eisenhower said it was the first he had heard of that.

5 States Protest Dairy Support Cut

DETROIT — A joint protest against proposed cuts in federal price supports on dairy products has been issued by delegates representing 55,000 dairy farmers in five midwestern states.

Dairy farmers from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin said Tuesday a proposal by agriculture Secretary Benson to cut price supports to 75 per cent of parity April 1 would reduce farm income by $300 million.

The group drafted a telegram to the Senate Agriculture Committee charging Benson's plan "would seriously cripple farmers' purchasing power and have a critical effect on the overall economy of the nation."

Ohio Loses 5,000 Farms During Year

WASHINGTON — Ohio had 178,000 farms in 1957 compared with 183,000 in 1956, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The department reports that the number of farms in the United States declined 2.3 per cent last year and 17 per cent below that of 10 years earlier. Last year's total in the nation came to 4,855,800 compared with 4,968,800 in 1956, and with 5,870,950 in 1947.

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The number of Ohioans collecting jobless benefits climbed past the 200,000 mark in the week ended last Saturday, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation (BUC) reported today.

night, climaxing a daylong parade of leaders from politics, industry, labor, entertainment, education and just about every other walk of life.

An unusual spirit of bipartisanship marked the gathering, at which Eisenhower and former President Truman both spoke, eight hours apart.

In a rare tribute to Truman, Eisenhower declared that in 1947, the "Truman Doctrine" went to work to save Greece from communism. The President, speaking of the former Democratic chieftain's doctrine, said:

"With its help, by the fall of 1949 the number of guerrillas in Greece was reduced to less than a thousand and later wiped out altogether. And during the years that followed, the tottering economy was restored to prewar levels."

Close Senate Vote Predicted On Postage Rate Hike Bill

WASHINGTON — Both sides predicted a close vote today as the Senate continued its debate over whether the out-of-town letter stamp should be raised to 4 or 5 cents.

Final Senate action on an overhaul of postal rates is not expected until later in the week, in any case, since efforts are to be made to tie it to pay raises for the 500,000 postal workers. Both sides have agreed that rate questions will be settled first.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), leading the fight for the temporary 5-cent stamp on out-of-town letters, said he believed the outcome would be very close.

Democratic sources said the decision might come by a margin of as little as two votes although Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said he believed the 4-cent rate would win.

Before the Senate is a bill written by its Postoffice Committee to increase all classes of rates by $747 million a year. This compares with new revenue of $527 million provided in the measure passed last year by the House. That bill provided a 4-cent rate for all letters.

3 Men Arrested In Lima Fur Theft

CLEVELAND — Three Cleveland ex-convicts were arrested today for theft of $15,000 worth of furs from a Lima store.

On a tip from Lima detectives, police raided the home of Anthony Buffa, 37, of suburban Warrensville Heights.

He was absent, but Warrensville Heights police sent word to Cleveland detectives, who arrested him in a downtown bar. They said about half the furs were found in Buffa's home.

The other two men, John Abbey, 51, of Cleveland Heights, and Salvatore Magnasco, 34, Cleveland, were picked up in a car near Buffa's home.

2 Electrical Unions Voting On Contract

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Members of two International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers locals were voting today on whether to accept or reject a new contract proposal by the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. Union officials emphasized it was not a strike vote.

The balloting was to continue all day. The union negotiating committee has recommended that the membership reject the proposal.

If the members follow its recommendation, the union would vote to continue the contract.

Eleven of the 19 Columbus and Southern Ohio employees in the IBEW, according to Elmer Parsons, manager of the Circleville Division.

He said they are all maintenance and construction workers. The other eight employees are supervisory personnel, office workers and meter readers.

The contract expires at midnight Friday.

No date has been set for an official strike vote, according to William H. Hamler, business representative of Local 1466. Another negotiating session is scheduled for 10 a. m. Thursday. It was arranged by U. S. Mediator H. J. Montoney.

The company offer, made Tuesday night, offers several fringe benefits which the firm calculates increases its earlier offer of a 4 per cent wage increase to 5 per cent. The union denied the increase amounted to that much.

Ohio Loses 5,000 Farms During Year

WASHINGTON — Ohio had 178,000 farms in 1957 compared with 183,000 in 1956, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The department reports that the number of farms in the United States declined 2.3 per cent last year and 17 per cent below that of 10 years earlier. Last year's total in the nation came to 4,855,800 compared with 4,968,800 in 1956, and with 5,870,950 in 1947.

ommendation, the committee said, it will seek authority to call a strike. The present contract expires at midnight Friday.

No date has been set for an official strike vote, according to William H. Hamler, business representative of Local 1466. Another negotiating session is scheduled for 10 a. m. Thursday. It was arranged by U. S. Mediator H. J. Montoney.

5 States Protest Dairy Support Cut

DETROIT — A joint protest against proposed cuts in federal price supports on dairy products has been issued by delegates representing 55,000 dairy farmers in five midwestern states.

Dairy farmers from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin said Tuesday a proposal by Agriculture Secretary Benson to cut price supports to 75 per cent of parity April 1 would reduce farm income by $300 million.

The group drafted a telegram to the Senate Agriculture Committee charging Benson's plan "would seriously cripple farmers' purchasing power and have a critical effect on the overall economy of the nation."

Sees Husband Killed

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio — Mrs. Clinton A. Carrick, following her husband in another car on Ohio 64 near Haskins, saw his auto miss a curve and upset. She stopped, ran to the wreckage, found 29-year-old Carrick dead.

Stock Prices Show Climb After Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued higher early this afternoon in a recovery from five losing sessions.

Trading was moderately active as prices improved on a broad front.

Most pivotal stocks showed gains of fractions to a point but in a few cases the advances went to around two.

Brokers called it a technical snapback from an oversold condition.

Steels, aircrafts, oil and chemicals did well. Leading rails and utilities showed scant change.

Youngstown Sheet added around two points. Bethlehem was up a major fraction. U. S. Steel advanced more than a point. Republic Steel was firm.

Chrysler was the standout among motors, rising about a point. General Motors was firm. Ford eased.

The rubbers made something of a comeback as Goodyear rose about a point and Goodyear was firm. U. S. Rubber, however, dropped a fraction.

U. S. government bonds rose.

Judge Reads Vows

Franklin Rose, Columbus, and Louise Hensley, 415 E. Mound St., were married today in Circleville Municipal Court.

The vows were read by Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: A recent column of yours was in reply to a widow who feels neglected by former friends, since her husband's death. In part you said that she would have to be "so subtle, politic and wise as to evoke no jealousy in wives"—in order to be included consistently in their social gatherings.

I am glad to recognize that the above condition exists. Thus far I have hesitated to air my feelings on a similar problem.

I am a single woman. When I happen to be in the company of a married couple, in a social group, I have learned from experience to try deliberately to tone down my personality, for fear of evoking the wife's jealousy.

By the second or possibly the third meeting, I get a feeling that the wife has begun "talking me down" to her husband, because he becomes constrained, and sooner or later not even friendly.

Perhaps I would act the same as these wives if I were married. But looking at it from this side, I would say there is something wrong with an institution, if it makes its participants (thought not all) act this way. To me, these are not "whole" persons, as the phrase is.

R. R.

DEAR M. R.: The institution of marriage is an improvement upon human nature—rather than a situ-

Fugitive Found In Barn Near Port Clinton

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Pennsylvania man, whose freedom was prolonged when a constable accidentally shot another fugitive in a leg, was captured Tuesday in a barn near Port Clinton.

The 25-mile chase of the two men was started by a state highway patrolman and grew to a manhunt by several law enforcement officers.

Captured in the barn was Elmer Hardesty, 24, of New Castle, Pa. He was brought to Lucas County Jail and held on a charge of reckless driving.

The other man is Paul Solomon, 39, of Whitlock, Tenn., identified as an escapee of Tennessee from a veterans hospital in Battle Creek, Mich.

Solomon was shot in a thigh Monday night by Constable William Molnar of East Toledo after the fleeing automobile upset on Ohio 2 at Turtle Creek near Port Clinton.

Hardesty took advantage of the shooting to flee into a woods, eluding the constable and state highway patrolmen.

Electric Shock Blamed in Death

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—A girl who died while taking a bath at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hollinghead, near Clyde, was killed by electric shock.

Dr. W. J. Martin, acting coroner, ruled Tuesday in the case. He said a short circuit caused by insulation being rubbed from a wire, sent electricity intermittently into the tub where 14-year-old Karen Purkayle died Sunday. The girl was visiting the Hollingheads.

Younger Generation

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—An out-of-state motorist, who stopped at the Tulsa gate to pay his toll after zipping across the northeast Oklahoma on the Will Rogers Turnpike, told the attendant:

"I'll say one thing about that fellow Will Rogers—he sure knows how to build roads."

Did You Know

Perhaps not but speaking of Stamps — we will wrap and mail box candy for you.

We are now receiving our Easter Candy — come in and look over our stock.

We have also received fresh stock of Bulk and Canned Double Kay Nuts. These are a good Lenten item.

ation that brings out the worst in people.

Marriage is composed of people who marry. So, marriage embodies the stuff of human nature, in its average essence—but also, it aims at something better. Namely, ideal humanity.

Marriage is a shelter for human nature, a Providential sort of arrangement for protecting humanity from its own weakness and waywardness and instability. Theoretically, this unit-plan is of divine origin, conceived and established to sanctify the creation, and guarantee the long-term moral nurture, of human beings.

Thus, the institution of marriage isn't the instigator of the shortcomings that men and women bring to it. And a married woman who is schemingly hostile towards a single woman—if perchance the latter seems interesting to, or interested in, her husband—is motivated more by innate imperfections, than by the fact of being married.

She is simply acting herself in the married state. And she probably would be equally defective, or perhaps even more so, in the single state—if only she dared reveal her true emotional bias before getting her man. It is after getting him that she begins to feel comparatively "safe," hence militantly self-confident in venting displeasure, etc., towards more defenseless persons.

Now, a word about your unhappy experiences with hostile wives. This awkward routine suggests that you have a problem in your own right, quite aside from their behavior.

It suggests that you are socially maladjusted; that you haven't a buffer circle of bachelor beaux; or a circle of interesting unmarried friends. And that you come to the attention of married men and their jealous mates because you are available, unattended, a fifth wheel in married gatherings.

Also, your sensitive awareness of married men's first friendliness, followed by growing constraint and eventual frost, indicates that you set too much store by their crumbs of cordiality in passing. That's because you are hungry for social acceptance, of course; and because any married man, as a rule, has a more comfortable aura than a bachelor does—due to the latter's unconsciously colder disposition towards females. Which accounts for bachelors and spinsters having an allergic sort of mutual reaction, mostly.

Postman Accused Of Delay of Mail

CHICAGO (AP)—A mailman in suburban Elmhurst who said he "couldn't get around to deliver all of his mail every day," appeared before the U. S. commissioner Monday accused of delaying the mail.

A federal prosecutor said mailman Frederick Riley, 35, failed to deliver 5,000 pieces of mail, most of it second and third class.

Robert F. Monaghan, assistant U. S. attorney, quoted Riley as saying he was "hoping to find time on a light day" to deliver the mail. The mail and packages were found in Riley's car when it was involved in an accident.

Bricker Back Bill To Aid Teachers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bricker (D-Ohio) is one of the co-sponsors of a bill introduced Tuesday by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) which would give teachers federal tax benefits.

The bill would allow exemptions for expenses incurred by teachers in furthering their education, including tuition, fees, books, supplies, equipment and traveling expenses.

City Being Sued In Traffic Mishap

PAINESVILLE (AP)—Painesville attorney Philip M. Carmody is suing the city for $207,000, alleging that negligence on the part of the city resulted in a traffic accident in which the girl was injured.

The petition, filed Monday, said the car in which Miss Carmody was riding March 23, 1956, slid on dirt and struck a tree nine inches from the pavement.

Miss Carmody alleged the city was negligent in failing to remove the tree from the right of way and for permitting dirt to accumulate.

Lost and Found

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP)—A Marine Corps hat emblem has been returned to Col. Charles S. Todd 16 years after he lost it when he was taken prisoner by the Japanese on Guam in 1941.

The emblem was found by Maj. R. G. Gilmore, then a platoon leader, when the island was retaken by U. S. forces in 1944. He learned at a social gathering here late in 1947 that the emblem had been lost by Todd and returned it to him.

She suffered fractures of the pelvis, right ankle, left foot and spine and other injuries.

- WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
- Prenatal Music Lessons
  - Stealing
  - Tetanus Shots

Q. If a mother plays a musical instrument or sings before her child is born will it help to make the youngster musical?

A. No, you can't give music lessons to an unborn child.

Q. Are some children just born stealers?

A. No. To the average youngster the easiest way to get something is to take it. Any other process seems to him a lot of nonsense. He just picks it up and walks away. Children must be taught to respect the property rights of others. Get the idea across by explanations and rewards for good behavior. Continued misbehavior may be a sign of emotional problems that should be dealt with promptly.

Q. Should all children be given tetanus shots to prevent lock-jaw?

A. Yes. In avoiding diseases, an ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure. Not long ago an 11-year-old girl who had never been given protective tetanus shots hurt her leg on a fence post. Severe tetanus symptoms developed a little more than a week after the injury. Specialists at a large Children's Hospital worked with her for 51 days before she was well enough to be sent home. The hospital bill alone, including special nurses, oxygen, blood transfusions, and medicine, was $2,100. Protective tetanus shots cost only a few dollars. To have tetanus may cost hundreds of dollars, much suffering, and perhaps a life.

Q. Will one series of tetanus shots protect you from the disease for life?

A. No. The protective substances produced by tetanus shots gradually disappear from the body. Physicians at the Johns Hopkins University recommend taking booster shots every five to ten years.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

$17,000 in Cash Found at Site of Ironton Slaying

IRONTON (AP)—More than $17,000 in cash has been found in the home of a murder victim here.

The money, found hidden in various spots in the house, belonged to Mrs. Emma Remy, 75, retired school principal and physician's widow. Police say Mrs. Remy was strangled before a fire swept through her house. The coroner's office has called it homicide.

Some of the money prosecutor Harold Spears reported found was discovered in a hidden box. About $200 was found in an apron pocket. Scores of persons have been questioned in the case, but police

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: A recent column of yours was in reply to a widow who feels neglected by former friends, since her husband's death. In part you said that she would have to be "so subtle, politic and wise as to evoke no jealousy in wives"—in order to be included consistently in their social gatherings.

I am glad to recognize that the above condition exists. Thus far I have hesitated to air my feelings on a similar problem.

I am a single woman. When I happen to be in the company of a married couple, in a social group, I have learned from experience to try deliberately to tone down my personality, for fear of evoking the wife's jealousy.

By the second or possibly the third meeting, I get a feeling that the wife has begun "talking me down" to her husband, because he becomes constrained, and sooner or later not even friendly.

Perhaps I would act the same as these wives if I were married. But looking at it from this side, I would say there is something wrong with an institution, if it makes its participants (thought not all) act this way. To me, these are not "whole" persons, as the phrase is.

R. R.

DEAR R. R.: The institution of marriage is an improvement upon human nature—rather than a situation that brings out the worst in people.

Fugitive Found In Barn Near Port Clinton

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Pennsylvania man, whose freedom was prolonged when a constable accidentally shot another fugitive in a leg, was captured Tuesday in a barn near Port Clinton.

The 25-mile chase of the two men was started by a state highway patrolman and grew to a manhunt by several law enforcement officers.

Captured in the barn was Elmer Hardski, 24, of New Castle, Pa. He was brought to Lucas County Jail and held on a charge of reckless driving.

The other man is Paul Solomon, 39, of Whitlock, Tenn., identified as an escapee of Tennessee from a veterans hospital in Battle Creek, Mich.

Solomon was shot in a thigh Monday night by Constable William Molnar of East Toledo after the fleeing automobile upset on Ohio 2 at Turtle Creek near Port Clinton.

Hardski took advantage of the shooting to flee into a woods, eluding the constable and state highway patrolmen.

Electric Shock Blamed in Death

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—A girl who died while taking a bath at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hollinghead, near Clyde, was killed by electric shock.

Dr. W. J. Martin, acting coroner, ruled Tuesday in the case. He said a short circuit caused by insulation being rubbed from a wire, sent electricity intermittently into the tub where 14-year-old Karen Purkeypile died Sunday. The girl was visiting the Hollingheads.

City Being Sued In Traffic Mishap

PAINESVILLE (AP)—Painesville attorney Philip M. Carmody is suing the city for $207,000, alleging that negligence on the part of the city resulted in a traffic accident in which the girl was injured.

The petition, filed Monday, said the car in which Miss Carmody was riding March 23, 1956, slid on dirt and struck a tree nine inches from the pavement.

Miss Carmody alleged the city was negligent in failing to remove the tree from the right of way and for permitting dirt to accumulate.

Lost and Found

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP)—A Marine Corps hat emblem has been returned to Col. Charles S. Todd 16 years after he lost it when he was taken prisoner by the Japanese on Guam in 1941.

The emblem was found by Maj. R. G. Gilmore, then a platoon leader, when the island was retaken by U. S. forces in 1944. He learned at a social gathering here late in 1947 that the emblem had been lost by Todd and returned it to him.

She suffered fractures of the pelvis, right ankle, left foot and spine and other injuries.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

- Prenatal Music Lessons
- Stealing
- Tetanus Shots

Q. If a mother plays a musical instrument or sings before her child is born will it help to make the youngster musical?

A. No, you can't give music lessons to an unborn child.

Q. Are some children just born stealers?

A. No. To the average youngster the easiest way to get something is to take it. Any other process seems to him a lot of nonsense. He just picks it up and walks away. Children must be taught to respect the property rights of others. Get the idea across by explanations and rewards for good behavior. Continued misbehavior may be a sign of emotional problems that should be dealt with promptly.

Q. Should all children be given tetanus shots to prevent lock-jaw?

A. Yes. In avoiding diseases, an ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure. Not long ago an 11-year-old girl who had never been given protective tetanus shots hurt her leg on a fence post. Severe tetanus symptoms developed a little more than a week after the injury. Specialists at a large Children's Hospital worked with her for 51 days before she was well enough to be sent home. The hospital bill alone, including special nurses, oxygen, blood transfusions, and medicine, was $2,100. Protective tetanus shots cost only a few dollars. To have tetanus may cost hundreds of dollars, much suffering, and perhaps a life.

Q. Will one series of tetanus shots protect you from the disease for life?

A. No. The protective substances produced by tetanus shots gradually disappear from the body. Physicians at the Johns Hopkins University recommend taking booster shots every five to ten years.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

Tickle Enemy to Death

Why not tickle the enemy into surrendering in future wars? Or give him a "hot foot?"

These ideas are put forth by Peter J. Schenk, president of the Air Force Association, in suggesting that the United States ought to have "weapons of subtlety, discrimination and persuasion" to accompany its hydrogen bombs.

He has in mind items such as these: a gas that would cause enemy soldiers to go into spasms of giggles in the midst of battle; a chemical that spread on the ground by planes would cause a rash on enemy feet; an "itch" gas or powder that would force a soldier to stop and scratch instead of fighting.

Another idea is a noise-generator that would put out a high-pitched shriek over the battle lines. Presumably this would create a need for defensive "ear muffs."

There is much to be said for Schenk's proposals — eccentric though they may seem in the hydrogen age. But for the lowly GI there must be a few doubts. War already is so uncomfortable that these added irritants would be nigh unbearable.

But then, come to think of it, that's the whole idea.

Worry Causes Dandruff?

While casual observation might support a claim that blue serge suits can cause the worst cases of dandruff, a survey by a non-profit organization has found that approximately 70 per cent of Americans, regardless of their clothing, are troubled with that scalp condition.

The agency found a relationship between the prevalence of dandruff among those of any one job category and the amount of worry their work supposedly entails. And the grading that resulted tends to support a conviction held by some newspaper workers.

Those suffering most from dandruff were found to be "big shot" executives. Ninety five per cent of them were victims.

Those in motion pictures were next. Then, in order, came newsmen and government officials.

Newsmen have always suspected they worry about things more than public office-holders do. And if anyone wants to challenge the validity of this judgment, they can now show proof.

That, except for the intervention of his mother, George Washington might have become a British admiral. She dissuaded him from accepting a commission in the navy and taking up a career before the mast.

That the snail is a natural born pedestrian. Its eyes, mounted on periscope-like stalks, enable it to see around corners.

That singer Lisa Kirk wants to know if you heard about the Texan who just ordered four small

That a frog breathes through its skin both on land and in the water.

That police estimate 40 per cent of America's dope addicts live in New York City, and 14 per cent of those who take narcotics are less than 20 years old.

That one alcoholic beverage has a specific disease named after it. This is absinthe. Imbibe too much of it and you get "absinthism."

That a cafe here posts this gentle reminder to noisy patrons: "The whale gets caught only when it comes to the surface to blow."

That if you tend to be an eager beaver, you might heed this cautionary advice of Benjamin Disraeli: "Next to knowing when to seize an opportunity, the next most important thing in life is to know when to forego an opportunity."

That women's feet grow smaller as they grow older. Well, that's what they try to tell shoe clerks anyway.

That TNT, the explosive, is so stable you can ordinarily hit it with a hammer or touch a match to it in safety.

That it is possible for some people to sleep with both eyes open. This has been going on in our office for years!

That Joe Garcia of Melbourne, Australia, once ate 480 oysters in 60 minutes and didn't find a single pearl.

Roosevelt Nationalism Noted

By George Sokolsky

Not enough is being made of the fact that next October the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt will be celebrated. The particular era in which we live historically starts with Theodore Roosevelt and while a younger generation may feel closer to another Roosevelt, it was Teddy who stirred the nation with his overpowering personality, his physical dynamism, his intellectual forensics and his intense nationalism.

Theodore Roosevelt was a nationalist, one who believed in America first and practised it all the time. He was President when this country was still in its up-building stage and he was unapologetic in his assertions of its strength. He talked like a warrior but kept the peace. He moved through his Presidency with pride, dignity and courage and accepted no second place for his country.

Like all Roosevelts, both the Oyster Bay and the Hudson River varieties, Theodore came of a middle class, old Dutch family, of not too great means but enormous respectability. His father had been a bond broker and Collector of the Port of New York; his mother was the daughter of Major James S. Bullock, a Confederate officer in the Civil War.

Teddy went to Harvard from which he was graduated and immediately entered Republican politics on the grass-roots level. He was elected to the Assembly but his health was poor and he went west to the Little Missouri to be a cowboy on a ranch, thus establishing his love for the great outdoors.

His major interest, however continued to be politics. He ran for Mayor of New York City but was defeated (1886). He was appointed to the Civil Service Commission where he served six years, thus getting a valuable experience which served him later when he became President.

What brought him into direct line for high office was his very dramatic career as president of the New York City Police Board. Here he established the Roosevelt personality, courageous, democratic, dramatic, independent.

The top Republican politicians in New York wanted to get Roosevelt out of their hair. They had the President appoint him Assistant Secretary of the Navy. He directed naval operations during the Spanish-American War for a while but finally organized the "Rough Riders," and served as its lieutenant colonel.

At any rate, it was the colorful Roosevelt of the "Rough Riders" who was elected Governor of New York State to the chagrin of the boss, Tom Platt. Platt immediately set about getting rid of him by having him elected to the Vice Presidency in 1900. Mark Hanna did not want Roosevelt but Teddy had by now become the most popular figure in the Republican Party. The politicians thought that they were rid of him forever, as Vice Presidents do not usually have much of a role in American life.

However, President William McKinley was assassinated and Theodore Roosevelt became President on September 14, 1901.

CAUGHT NAPPING—Jeff Davis, 35, Jacksonville, Miss., looks a bit forlorn as he holds up his manacled wrists in Los Angeles. Some 150 police searched 10 hours for the slayer of Detective Russel Crowe, and they wound up finding Davis in a Carbon canyon home, where he had forced his way and fallen asleep.

His Administration was a lively, exciting one. Roosevelt read everything, knew everything, knew everybody. He made the White House a center of American culture.

He freed the Republican Party from the bossism which held it tight in the control of monopolistic businesses. He stimulated a public interest in government. He sent his son, Quentin, to public school in Washington and shocked the fancy people of Washington. He entertained Booker T. Washington, a Negro educator, in the White House. He is the author of the Panama Canal.

It was Theodore Roosevelt who introduced the doctrine that a labor dispute is not merely a quarrel between capital and labor, between management and labor leaders. He insisted that there is a third party to the dispute, the people, and that the government of the United States is entitled to intervene.

Teddy Roosevelt — nobody called him Theodore — was President until 1909 when his friend, William Howard Taft, succeeded him. Roosevelt went hunting in Africa, returned to edit the "Outlook" and quarrelling with Taft over basic principles, he organized the Progressive Party, better known as the "Bull Moose" and ran against Taft in 1912, thus paving the way for Woodrow Wilson to be elected President of the United States.

His career was so full of action, of effervescent living that it is not always remembered that Theodore Roosevelt was one of the most constructive Presidents in American history.

CLIFTON FADIMAN, eminent critic, believes in the encouragement of authentic (NOT publicity-crazy) eccentrics, and cites as prime example (1) the French dandy who paraded down the Champs Elysees trailing a live lobster at the end of a string, because, he explained, it knew the secrets of the sea, and (2) the late Joe Gould, of Greenwich Village via Harvard, who, inheriting $1,000, bought a big radio, took it out on Sixth avenue, and kicked it to pieces. "Kip" Fadiman also recalls an off-beat mathematics professor who vacationed in Brussels so he could readily organize mountain-climbing expeditions to the highest point in Belgium. How high was that point? The prof replied, "12 feet above sea level."

David Niven asked a shoestring producer how his latest picture was faring at the box office. "I'll be perfectly honest with you," the producer replied. "I won't answer."

Experts Say Tiring Quickly Is Sure Sign of Boredom

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Do you become tired at the office or plant, or while doing household chores, long before your workday is finished?

Then maybe you are suffering from fatigue.

Generally false fatigue is caused by just plain boredom. Don't confuse this with emotional fatigue, which is a more complicated problem and often requires expert help.

False fatigue can make you act tired, it can make you feel tired, but you won't really be tired. Usually, you will lose all interest in a boring task shortly after you begin it.

All too frequently, a routine office job saps an employee of almost all ambition. The same is true of a routine job in a factory or in the home.

But let's be practical. You've got to get the work done. You must snap out of this false fatigue.

There are two ways to do it. Probably the best and most popular is to take a respite from your job every so often for a coffee break.

Employers throughout the country have recognized the value of the coffee break. They know it increases efficiency, especially among employees with routine jobs. It's a morale builder as well.

The other way to beat false fatigue is to talk yourself out of it. This, of course, takes determination and self-discipline and time. But it can be done and quickly, too.

When you become bored and begin to feel tired, although you know you haven't done enough work to make you tired, just stay with the job. Grit your teeth and keep on working.

Within half an hour you will probably feel a lot better, a lot more like finishing the job.

There are many drugs on the market which have been designed to fight fatigue. In some cases, they might be beneficial. But that is a matter for your doctor to decide.

While both tea and coffee are stimulants, they are not dangerous, if not taken to excess. Most of you will find they will help put some pep into your work.

Question and Answer

D. G.: I have been losing weight and coughing up blood. Could these be tuberculosis symptoms?

Answer: The first symptoms of tuberculosis are fatigue and loss of weight. There is a loss of appetite which is followed by coughing, expectoration, more loss of weight, fever and night sweats.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is an A-B-C on President Eisenhower's foreign aid program. He has asked Congress for $3,942,100,000 for another year. It faces a tough fight.

Eisenhower's program is a continuation of the one started by former President Truman. Since the war the total cost of foreign aid — of all kinds — has been 60 billion dollars. The end is not in sight.

The President has asked $2,635,000,000 for military aid and related expenses of defense support and $1,307,100,000 mainly for economic aid. That economic aid falls into two classes: loans that will be repaid and grants, or outright gifts.

The aid program began to assume its present form, but in a very limited way, back on March 12, 1947, when Truman asked Congress for 400 million dollars in both military and economic help to Greece and Turkey. He got it.

Greece at the time was threatened from within by Communist guerrillas; Turkey was being pressured from the outside by its next-door neighbor, the Soviet Union.

Later in 1947 the Truman administration — through Secretary of State Marshall — proposed a big economic aid program for Western Europe which was still flat on its back from World War II. This program got started in 1948.

Still later, as the result of Communist pressures or aggressions around the world, this country began making military alliances with individual countries and groups of countries.

This meant military help from this country in various forms: weapons, instructor to teach the use of them; supplies, services; and even direct money to help smaller countries pay for their armies set up as part of the alliance.

On the military assistance in its various forms the Truman and Eisenhower administrations reason this way:

It's cheap at the price. These alliances form a protective wall against the Soviet Union. They have far more men than we could afford to put in uniform on a permanent basis if our allies weren't there; and, besides, by ourselves we couldn't police the world. The armed allies do the policing.

In addition: by being our allies,

they stay out of the Soviet camp and get a chance to develop by themselves.

The economic aid not only includes loans, to countries which feel able to repay, but grants or gifts to those which can't repay, and also technical assistance.

This country sends technical experts to backward countries to help them come abreast of the times through various forms of development: farming, education, health, mining, industry, transportation, and even by training administrators.

The biggest chunk of the military aid will go to countries of the Far East.

Worry Causes Dandruff?

While casual observation might support a claim that blue serge suits can cause the worst cases of dandruff, a survey by a non-profit organization has found that approximately 70 per cent of Americans, regardless of their clothing, are troubled with that scalp condition.

The agency found a relationship between the prevalence of dandruff among those of any one job category and the amount of worry their work supposedly entails. And the grading that resulted tends to support a conviction held by some newspaper workers.

Those suffering most from dandruff were found to be "big shot" executives. Ninety five per cent of them were victims.

Those in motion pictures were next. Then, in order, came newsmen and government officials.

Newsmen have always suspected they worry about things more than public office-holders do. And if anyone wants to challenge the validity of this judgment, they can now show proof.

Rome Holds Breadline Record

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That ancient Rome had a record breadline. During the height of the empire as many as one third of the city's inhabitants were fed at public expense.

That, except for the intervention of his mother, George Washington might have become a British admiral. She dissuaded him from accepting a commission in the navy and taking up a career before the mast.

That the snail is a natural born pedestrian. Its eyes, mounted on periscope-like stalks, enable it to see around corners.

That singer Lisa Kirk wants to know if you heard about the Texan who just ordered four small foreign sports cars. He's having them made into cuff-links.

That a frog breathes through its skin both on land and in the water.

That police estimate 40 per cent of America's dope addicts live in New York City, and 14 per cent of those who take narcotics are less than 20 years old.

That one alcoholic beverage has a specific disease named after it. This is absinthe. Imbibe too much of it and you get "absinthism."

That a cafe here posts this gentle reminder to noisy patrons: "The whole gets caught only when it comes to the surface to blow."

That if you tend to be an eager beaver, you might heed this cautionary advice of Benjamin Disraeli: "Next to knowing when to seize an opportunity, the next most important thing in life is to know when to forego an opportunity."

That women's feet grow smaller as they grow older. Well, that's what they try to tell shoe clerks anyway.

That TNT, the explosive, is so stable you can ordinarily hit it with a hammer or touch a match to it in safety.

That it is possible for some people to sleep with both eyes open. This has been going on in our office for years!

That Joe Garcia of Melbourne, Australia, once ate 480 oysters in 60 minutes and didn't find a single pearl.

Roosevelt Nationalism Noted

By George Sokolsky

Not enough is being made of the fact that next October the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt will be celebrated. The particular era in which we live historically starts with Theodore Roosevelt and while a younger generation may feel closer to another Roosevelt, it was Teddy who stirred the nation with his overpowering personality, his physical dynamism, his intellectual forensics and his intense nationalism.

Theodore Roosevelt was a nationalist, one who believed in America first and practised it all the time. He was President when this country was still in its up-building stage and he was unapologetic in his assertions of its strength. He talked like a warrior but kept the peace. He moved through his Presidency with pride, dignity and courage and accepted no second place for his country.

Like all Roosevelts, both the Oyster Bay and the Hudson River varieties, Theodore came of a middle class, old Dutch family, of not too great means but enormous respectability. His father had been a bond broker and Collector of the Port of New York; his mother was the daughter of Major James S. Bullock, a Confederate officer in the Civil War.

Teddy went to Harvard from which he was graduated and immediately entered Republican politics on the grass-roots level. He was elected to the Assembly but his health was poor and he went west to the Little Missouri to be a cowboy on a ranch, thus establishing his love for the great outdoors.

His major interest, however continued to be politics. He ran for Mayor of New York City but was defeated (1886). He was appointed to the Civil Service Commission where he served six years, thus getting a valuable experience which served him later when he became President.

What brought him into direct line for high office was his very dramatic career as president of the New York City Police Board. Here he established the Roosevelt personality, courageous, democratic, dramatic, independent.

The top Republican politicians in New York wanted to get Roosevelt out of their hair. They had the President appoint him Assistant Secretary of the Navy. He directed naval operations during the Spanish-American War for a while but finally organized the "Rough Riders," and served as its lieutenant colonel.

At any rate, it was the colorful Roosevelt of the "Rough Riders" who was elected Governor of New York State to the chagrin of the boss, Tom Platt. Platt immediately set about getting rid of him by having him elected to the Vice Presidency in 1900. Mark Hanna did not want Roosevelt but Teddy had by now become the most popular figure in the Republican Party. The politicians thought that they were rid of him forever, as Vice Presidents do not usually have much of a role in American life.

However, President William McKinley was assassinated and Theodore Roosevelt became President on September 14, 1901.

CAUGHT NAPPING—Jeff Davis, 33, Jacksonville, Miss., looks a bit forlorn as he holds up his manacled wrists in Los Angeles. Some 150 police searched 10 hours for the slayer of Detective Russell Crowe, and they wound up finding Davis in a Carbon canyon home, where he had forced his way and fallen asleep. (International)

His Administration was a lively, exciting one. Roosevelt read everything, knew everything, knew everybody. He made the White House a center of American culture.

He freed the Republican Party from the bossism which held it tight in the control of monopolistic businesses. He stimulated a public interest in government. He sent his son, Quentin, to public school in Washington and shocked the fancy people of Washington. He entertained Booker T. Washington, a Negro educator, in the White House. He is the author of the Panama Canal.

It was Theodore Roosevelt who introduced the doctrine that a labor dispute is not merely a quarrel between capital and labor, between management and labor leaders. He insisted that there is a third party to the dispute, the people, and that the government of the United States is entitled to intervene.

Teddy Roosevelt — nobody called him Theodore — was President until 1909 when his friend, William Howard Taft, succeeded him. Roosevelt went hunting in Africa, returned to edit the "Outlook" and quarrelling with Taft over basic principles, he organized the Progressive Party, better known as the "Bull Moose" and ran against Taft in 1912, thus paving the way for Woodrow Wilson to be elected President of the United States.

His career was so full of action, of effervescent living that it is not always remembered that Theodore Roosevelt was one of the most constructive Presidents in American history.

CLIFTON FADIMAN, eminent critic, believes in the encouragement of authentic (NOT publicity-crazy) eccentrics, and cites as prime example (1) the French dandy who paraded down the Champs Elysees trailing a live lobster at the end of a string, because, he explained, it knew the secrets of the sea, and (2) the late Joe Gould, of Greenwich Village via Harvard, who, inheriting $1,000, bought a big radio, took it out on Sixth Avenue, and kicked it to pieces. "Kip" Fadiman also recalls an off-beat mathematics professor who vacationed in Brussels so he could readily organize mountain-climbing expeditions to the highest point in Belgium. How high was that point? The prof replied, "12 feet above sea level."

David Niven asked a shoeshine producer how his latest picture was faring at the box office. "It'll be perfectly honest with you," the producer replied. "I won't answer."

Experts Say Tiring Quickly Is Sure Sign of Boredom

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Do you become tired at the office or plant, or while doing household chores, long before your workday is finished?

Then maybe you are suffering false fatigue.

Generally false fatigue is caused by just plain boredom. Don't confuse this with emotional fatigue, which is a more complicated problem and often requires expert help.

False fatigue can make you act tired, it can make you feel tired, but you won't really be tired. Usually, you will lose all interest in a boring task shortly after you begin it.

All too frequently, a routine office job saps an employee of almost all ambition. The same is true of a routine job in a factory or in the home.

But let's be practical. You've got to get the work done. You must snap out of this false fatigue.

There are two ways to do it. Probably the best and most popular is to take a respite from your job every so often for a coffee break.

Employers throughout the country have recognized the value of the coffee break. They know it increases efficiency, especially among employees with routine jobs. It's a morale builder as well.

The other way to beat false fatigue is to talk yourself out of it. This, of course, takes determination and self-discipline and time. But it can be done and quickly, too.

When you become bored and begin to feel tired, although you know you haven't done enough work to make you tired, just stay with the job. Grit your teeth and keep on working.

Within half an hour you will probably feel a lot better, a lot more like finishing the job.

There are many drugs on the market which have been designed to fight fatigue. In some cases, they might be beneficial. But that is a matter for your doctor to decide.

While both tea and coffee are stimulants, they are not dangerous, if not taken to excess. Most of you will find they will help put some pep into your work.

California Juvenile Case Load Mounting

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California officials said today juvenile delinquency has hit an all-time peak in the state and is continuing upward. They blame the unemployment situation.

Herman G. Stark, director of the California Youth Authority, termed the increase in juvenile crimes unprecedented.

"We handle an average of 350 cases per month," he said. "In January we had 418 and there's no doubt February will go over 400."

The courts may make juvenile offenders wards of the CYA.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is an A-B-C on President Eisenhower's foreign aid program. He has asked Congress for $3,942,000,000 for another year. It faces a tough fight.

Eisenhower's program is a continuation of the one started by former President Truman. Since the war the total cost of foreign aid — of all kinds — has been 60 billion dollars. The end is not in sight.

The President has asked $2,635,000,000 for military aid and related expenses of defense support and $1,307,000,000 mainly for economic aid. That economic aid falls into two classes: loans that will be repaid and grants, or outright gifts.

The aid program began to assume its present form, but in a very limited way, back on March 12, 1947, when Truman asked Congress for 400 million dollars in both military and economic help to Greece and Turkey. He got it.

Greece at the time was threatened from within by Communist guerrillas; Turkey was being pressured from the outside by its next-door neighbor, the Soviet Union.

Later in 1947 the Truman administration — through Secretary of State Marshall — proposed a big economic aid program for Western Europe which was still flat on its back from World War II. This program got started in 1948.

Still later, as the result of Communist pressures or aggressions around the world, this country began making military alliances with individual countries and groups of countries.

This meant military help from this country in various forms: weapons, instructor to teach the use of them; supplies, services; and even direct money to help smaller countries pay for their armies set up as part of the alliance.

On the military assistance in its various forms the Truman and Eisenhower administrations reason this way:

It's cheap at the price. These alliances form a protective wall against the Soviet Union. They have far more men than we could afford to put in uniform on a permanent basis if our allies weren't there; and, besides, by ourselves we couldn't police the world. The armed allies do the policing.

In addition: by being our allies,

they stay out of the Soviet camp and get a chance to develop by themselves.

The economic aid not only includes loans, to countries which feel able to repay, but grants or gifts to those which can't repay, and also technical assistance.

This country sends technical experts to backward countries to help them come abreast of the times through various forms of development: farming, education, health, mining, industry, transportation, and even by training administrators.

The biggest chunk of the military aid will go to countries of the Far East.

Woman, Son Disappear To 'Write Book'

CINCINNATI (AP)—A search has been started for Mrs. Robert G. McHendrix, 31, and her son, Bobby, 10, who disappeared from their home near Glen Este (Clermont County) on Feb. 17.

Robert G. McHendrix, the father and husband, is executive producer of station WKRC-TV in Cincinnati.

McHendrix could not advance any reason for his wife and child leaving their home, other than what she said in a note—a determination to write a book.

She withdrew the boy from Mt. Carmel school and got his report card the day she disappeared in the family automobile, McHendrix said. He added that she took little money and only a few clothes with her for either of them.

"We have loved you — and we do," Mrs. McHendrix said in the note to her husband. "You know I'm self-sufficient and capable. I'll come back just as soon as the book is finished, and if you want me then, we can try again. From both of us, our love, and sincere respect, and always best wishes."

Mrs. McHendrix weighs 97 pounds, has blue eyes and brown hair, and has a small scar on the left side of her nose, McHendrix said. The boy is 4 feet tall, weighs 83 pounds, has blue eyes and blond crew-cut hair.

McHendrix has offered a reward for information leading to the whereabouts of his wife and child.

Women Dislike New Sacks, But Admit They'll Wear 'em

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Staff Writer

More than two out of three American women say they dislike the new sack—or chemise—fashions. But almost half of them say they'll probably wear them, anyway.

This, despite the fact that only one husband in seven has expressed himself as pleased with fashion's most recent rearrangement of the female form divine.

The Associated Press made a sack survey of women from San Francisco to New York, from Maine to California. Housewives, spinsters, society leaders, professional women, career girls, working girls and teen-agers were among those polled. The survey may not have proved much about the fate of the chemise silhouette, but it does seem to reinforce the average male's conviction that dames are inconsistent. Would we wear a burlap bag if fashion so dictated, and that—whatever they do dress for—it isn't the men in their lives.

Statistics turned up are impressive but, no matter how closely studied, they just don't make much sense. For instance:

To the direct question, "What do you think of the sack silhouette?" 26 per cent of the women vowed they liked it, they loved it, it was fun! Another 54 per cent remarked with varying degrees of violence that they disliked it, they loathed it, they wouldn't be caught dead in it. Twenty per cent made cautious, qualified answers—maybe for slender, hipless, young ones but not for me. One woman, a factory worker in Illinois, said, "I never heard of it."

The next question was "Do you plan to wear it?" Thirty-eight per cent (and some of them were women who said they disliked it) announced they would not, ever, wear it. A mere 7 per cent were undecided.

Seventy-two per cent of the survey group were married women. Fourteen per cent of them reported their husbands liked the chemise. Eighty per cent, however, merrily reported husbandly reactions ranging from "What have you got on—a laundry bag?" (Greer Garson, actress) to "He would completely ignore me—and I'm serious" (Mrs. Robert McCann, Bismarck, N. D. housewife.) Overwhelmingly (75 per cent), the women expressed a permanent preference for simple, classic clothes. And well over half insisted that the revolutionary new silhouette will be no more than a passing fancy except for women who go in for high style.

Singer Patti Page, for instance, says she likes the new dresses very much—but not for television, where the chemise is ignored as studiously as off-color jokes.

"Television clothes," she said, "are different from street wear. A chemise might look good, in person. But the camera wouldn't help the dress at all."

Defenders of the sack, generally, seemed to cluster in the larger cities, to be high-style conscious—and slender. St. Louis housewife Mrs. Pat Saxon gave a typical answer: "I like it. And I plan to wear sack dresses because they are a high fashion item. Actually, they aren't sack when they fit correctly."

Fashion-plate Ina Claire, former stage star and now Mrs. William Wallace, San Francisco social leader, insists that a well-made chemise, like her favorite Balenciaga, is subtle and delicately curved "so you can see there is a human body in it."

Sack-haters, however, were more colorful in their attack. A woman physician in Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Irene Phrydas, remarked that she thinks it "terrific for women in an early stage of pregnancy; this season is a wonderful time to be expecting—no one would ever know with the sack look."

St. Louis receptionist Catherine Noerteman just thinks "it stinks," and New York writer Janice Devine sees in it "a conspiracy by designers to make women look silly." Mrs. June Larid of Topeka, Kan., finds sack dresses "utterly ridiculous," and Mrs. J. Glynn Frost of Gardiner, Me., just said, "No swear words allowed—I think it's awful."

Stage and TV star Mary Martin is a veteran of the sack: she wore one in a comedy routine six years ago, in her television debut.

"They laughed at me when I wore a sack in 1952," she said.

"And I don't blame them. It was funny then and it's funny now."

Mrs. Dunkel Hosts BP Women's Club

Mrs. Eloise Dunkel, chairman of the National Security committee, will preside over the business meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club when it meets at 8 p. m., Thursday in the preference for simple, classic club room in the Masonic Temple.

Miss Martin, however, is broad-minded about the new silhouette. "These are tense days and it's good, for a change, for men to have a good laugh. Why shouldn't we women give it to them?"

Although Miss Martin insists that her husband finds the sack funny, it is apparent that large numbers of husbands do not.

"He wouldn't take me out if I wore such a thing," said Mrs. James Snow of Topeka—and her husband's sentiments were widely echoed by married males all over the country.

"He'd be absolutely right in burning every one of the fool things I brought home," said San Francisco's Mrs. Frances E. Johnson, secretary.

Many style-conscious women, like Greer Garson, however, urged patience in judging the new vogue.

"In the past fashions of the new style always looked a little comic at first," said Broadway's current Auntie Mame. "But women have managed so far to look charming in every day and every age, and I am sure they will not be defeated by the sack."

Social Happenings

The Circleville Herald, Wed., Feb. 26, 1958 5
Circleville, Ohio

Study Course Presented to Baptist Women

A mission study course was conducted by the Woman's Missionary Union of Circleville First Baptist Church, Saturday, in the home of Mrs. J. H. Miller, 715 S. Court St.

Mrs. Charles Thomas, mission study chairman, presented the book, "Look, Look, the Cities." This study is in preparation for the "Week of Prayer for Home Missions" observed in all Southern Baptist churches throughout the Convention, March 3-7.

Mrs. Thomas reminded us that home missions begins in our town and that we must plan, promote and project a program that alerts us to the needs around us.

At the conclusion of this discussion, Mrs. Miller served dinner to the following: Mrs. Paul White, Mrs. Pearl McFee, Mrs. S. F. Cooper, Mrs. Richard Compton, Mrs. Wayne Koonce, Mrs. Hal Spencer, Miss Phyllis McFee, Miss Melba White and Mrs. Charles Thomas.

"Accessories" Topic for Homemakers

"Accessories to Spice the Costume" was the topic presented by Mrs. Walter Writsel and Mrs. Richard Snyder when the Happy Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Writsel, on Gulick Road. Accessories were presented

Anniversary Celebrated By the Ray McClellands

Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. McClelland, Amanda, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary February 16, with an open house. Miss Elouise McClelland, Mrs. Robert Davis and Leslie L. McClelland served as hosts.

Fifty yellow roses were presented to the couple by their two daughters and son.

The co-hostesses for the event were Miss Goldie Byers, Dayton, Mrs. Catherine P. Cook, Ashville, Mrs. Marvene Hall, Buckeye Lake, Mrs. Edith Davis, Miss Shirley Ann Davis and Miss Viola Hyne, all of Amanda.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis, Amanda entertained the Ray McClellands in their home. Other guests were Miss Byers, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Cook, Ashville, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hall, Mrs. Davis, Misses Hyme, Davis, McClelland, Amanda, Mr. Ralph E. Bond, Columbus and Mr. Leslie L. McClelland, Amanda.

Buy small chickens when you are using them for broiling or frying. The smallest sizes of broilers fryers cook quickly.

by the women that would balance the basic costume. They stressed that an unbalanced amount of accessories spoil the looks of many a costume.

It was an all day session with coffee breaks in the morning and a carry-in luncheon at the noon hour, with a practical study of culinary skills used.

During the morning ceramic techniques were demonstrated and given application.

Approximately 18 persons attended the affair.

Women Dislike New Sacks, But Admit They'll Wear 'em

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Staff Writer

More than two out of three American women say they dislike the new sack—or chemise—fashions. But almost half of them say they'll probably wear them, anyway.

This, despite the fact that only one husband in seven has expressed himself as pleased with fashion's most recent rearrangement of the female form divine.

The Associated Press made a sack survey of women from San Francisco to New York, from Maine to California. Housewives, spinsters, society leaders, professional women, career girls, working girls and teenagers were among those polled. The survey may not have proved much about the fate of the chemise silhouette, but it does seem to reinforce the average male's conviction that ladies are inconsistent, would wear a burlesque if fashion so dictated, and that whatever they do dress for—it isn't the men in their lives.

Statistics turned up are impressive but, no matter how closely studied, they just don't make much sense. For instance:

To the direct question, "What do you think of the sack silhouette?" 26 per cent of the women vowed they liked it, they loved it, it was fun! Another 54 per cent remarked with varying degrees of violence that they disliked it, they loathed it, they wouldn't be caught dead in it. Twenty per cent made cautious, qualified answers—maybe for slender, hipless, young ones but not for me. One woman, a factory worker in Illinois, said, "I never heard of it."

The next question was "Do you plan to wear it?" Thirty-eight per cent (and some of them were those who said they disliked it) announced they already were or would. Fifty-five per cent (and some of them were women who said they liked it) announced they would not, ever, wear it. A mere 7 per cent were undecided.

Seventy-two per cent of the survey group were married women. Fourteen per cent of them reported their husbands liked the chemise. Eighty per cent, however, merrily reported husbandly reactions ranging from "What have you got on—a laundry bag?" (Greer Garson, actress) to "He would completely ignore me—and I'm serious" (Mrs. Robert McCann, Bismarck, N. D. housewife.)

Overwhelmingly (75 per cent), the women expressed a permanent preference for simple, classic clothes. And well over half insisted that the revolutionary new silhouette will be no more than a passing fancy except for women who go in for high style.

Singer Patti Page, for instance, says she likes the new dresses very much—but not for television, where the chemise is ignored as studiously as off-color jokes.

"Television clothes," she said, "are different from street wear. A chemise might look good, in person. But the camera wouldn't help the dress at all."

Defenders of the sack, generally, seemed to cluster in the larger cities, to be high-style conscious—and slender. St. Louis housewife Mrs. Pat Saxon gave a typical answer: "I like it. And I plan to wear sack dresses because they are a high fashion item. Actually, they aren't sack when they fit correctly."

Fashion-plate Ina Claire, former stage star and now Mrs. William Wallace, San Francisco social leader, insists that a well-made chemise, like her favorite Balenciaga, is subtle and delicately curved "so you can see there is a human body in it."

Sack-haters, however, were more colorful in their attack. A woman physician in Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Irene Phrydas, remarked that she thinks it "terrific for women in an early stage of pregnancy: this season is a wonderful time to be expecting—no one would ever know with the sack look."

St. Louis receptionist Catherine Noerteman just thinks "it stinks," and New York writer Janice Devine sees in it "a conspiracy by designers to make women look silly." Mrs. June Larid of Topeka, Kan., finds sack dresses "utterly ridiculous," and Mrs. J. Glynn Frost of Gardiner, Me., just said, "No swear words allowed—I think it's awful."

Stage and TV star Mary Martin is a veteran of the sack: she wore one in a comedy routine six years ago in her television debut.

"They laughed at me when I wore a sack in 1952," she said. "And I don't blame them. It was funny then and it's funny now."

Mrs. Eloise Dunkel, chairman of the National Security committee, will preside over the business meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club when it meets at 8 p. m. Thursday in the club room in the Masonic Temple.

OSU Schedules Annual Farm, Home Exhibits

Three-Day Program To Include Talks By College Experts

Ohio State University's 46th annual Farm and Home Week, March 25, 26, and 27, promises campus visitors three big days of demonstrations, tours, exhibits, talks and discussions.

The program for each day will be built around a special theme. The big event will open with Rural-Urban day, designed to bring Farm - Family - Community day, with talks and discussions on community planning, educational programs and family living.

March 27 is designated as Automation in Agriculture day. Speakers will talk about the impact of mechanization on the farm family and show how automation is changing farm production patterns.

Among the daily attractions will be a big machinery exhibit in the field house, with 80 manufacturers and distributors of farm equipment displaying products. Farm and Home Week visitors may see an Ohio canned foods display in the Horticulture and Forestry building from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The School of Home Economics will hold open house from 11 a. m. to noon and from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m. in Campbell Hall. Visitors to the building may see exhibits and talk with faculty members about such subjects as clothing and textiles, family and child development, food and nutrition, home economics education, home furnishings and household equipment.

Each day's program will include a general session plus special events conducted by various departments in the College of Agriculture. College staff members will discuss current topics in such fields as agricultural economics and rural sociology, agricultural engineering, home economics, agronomy, horticulture, poultry science, animal science, dairy science and beekeeping.

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—An Army Chemical Corps scientist today announced discovery of a germ-killing gas which may have wide use in sterilizing hospitals and defending against biological warfare.

Dr. C. R. Phillips, chief of the Physical Defense Division of the Chemical Corps at Ft. Detrick in Frederick, Md., said the gas is as effective as formaldehyde vapor but acts more rapidly with fewer adverse side effects.

Its name is beta-propiolactone, a compound used previously only in liquid form.

The basic ingredients of the compound are hydrogen, oxygen and carbon.

Dr. Phillips announced the new use of beta-propiolactone in a paper prepared as part of the Beeton Dickinson lectures, a series on sterilization techniques, at the Seton Hall College of Medicine and Dentistry.

He said the gas has been used effectively to disinfect entire laboratory buildings at Ft. Detrick. He predicted that a few years' study will prove the gas has "important applications," possibly "in sterilizing operating rooms, nurseries within hospitals, and the like."

Lent Points Up Great Value Of Seafood in National Diet

By MRS. LEORA SAYRE
County Home Economics Agent

The empire of waters contains a vast number of fishes—the majority of which are edible. The total annual fish consumption has remained fairly steady at 11.4 pounds per person, but since 1940 has been eaten.

Although only about seven species of fish are well known to the average person, there are actually about 200 varieties sold in the United States. This is in addition to the 40 varieties of shellfish available.

Fish can be used as an alternate for meat since an average serving contains the same amount of protein as an average serving of the meat. Since the iron content is less, it is important to include plenty of leafy and green vegetables.

Although there is a wide variety of fish the year around, Lent brings new interest. The choice includes fillets, steaks, pieces for baking, or whole. The frozen seafoods may be fresh, ready to cook; breaded, ready to cook; or breaded, ready to heat and serve. There are also main dishes on the market. Among those available are lobster newberg, tuna and noodle casserole and oyster stew.

Freshly frozen fish retains its quality as long as it is kept frozen. It may be cooked as though it were unfrozen, if additional cooking time is allowed.

WHILE THE FLAVOR, texture, appearance and size may vary according to the species, the fundamental rules for cooking most fish are few and easy to follow. Summarized, they are: avoid overcooking; keep in mind the variation in fat content; and handle fish as little as possible during and after cooking. There is no such thing as tough fish. The texture of muscles is about the same in all parts.

Many nutritious menus can be planned with fish and/or meat if the shopping list also includes carrots, lettuce, grapefruit, apples, eggs, canned corn, frozen green beans, frozen green beans, frozen broccoli and frozen green beans. These are all currently plentiful and economical food items.

Since torrential rains and the second freeze finished off Florida fresh supplies for fully two months, the American Institute of Food Distribution reports that there has been an increase of about 25 per cent in consumer buying of canned vegetables.

REGARDLESS OF whether the meal is planned around sardines, causing enemies," he said with reference to its use in biological warfare.

weiners, or deviled eggs, it would be well to always remember that "Food Comes First". This was the theme of the recent National Food Conference.

This conference was regarded as the most important food event of 1958. It offered full sweep to all variety of opinion on the consumption of food in the United States in order to contribute to general public knowledge on the most important element to life and health—the food we eat.

The theme "Food Comes First," was selected because the "firstness" of food is readily granted in any consideration of personal health. As the conference chairman stated, "everybody eats, but according to many studies made, it much of America eats without plan or purpose, thus acquiring small nutritive value."

The general food objective of home economists is to help America eat and live better.

Foreign Youth Visits Slated For Pickaway

The 4-H club department of Ohio State University has just received word that International Farm Exchange students will visit Ohio from Australia, Latin America, Middle East, India, Burma and Europe, according to George Hamrick, county agricultural agent.

Pickaway County families in the past have served as host families in this program. There is a need for host families for this summer's group. Any Pickaway County family which would like to serve as a host family should contact the Agricultural Extension Office.

The emphasis of the IFYE program is on youth program leadership training. Normal family living will continue to be the basic element of the IFYE experience. The exchanges are placed with three different families in one county for their entire stay.

The IFYE program has made tremendous strides in the area of better world understanding and many warm and lasting friendships have been made between Pickaway County host families and former IFYE students who have visited here.

Local FFA Boys Celebrate 'Week'

The three Pickaway County chapters Future Farmers of America as well as chapters throughout the nation are scheduling special activities on the work of their organization during National FFA Week, this week.

Walnut FFA members have a display in the window of Mac's Tire & Appliance Store, 113 E. Main St. Included in this exhibit are the nine trophies won by Walnut FFA members during the past fair season. Members of Jackson, Scioto, and Walnut Chapters are also meeting this week to elect chapter officers for the coming FFA year, which starts March 1.

Membership in the FFA is composed of farm boys who are students of vocational agriculture in high school. The organization's activities are designed primarily to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship, and to stimulate the boys to better achievement in their study and work toward successful establishment in farming or work in allied agriculture occupations.

The National Future Farmer organization has 380,000 members, with 9,000 local chapters in the 48 States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Future Farmers choose the week of George Washington's birthday each year for the observance of National FFA Week. Although usually recognized as a Revolutionary War general and our first president, Washington's first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon. There, he was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertilization, and other soil conservation and improvement methods.

Benson Is Due For OSU Talk

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has accepted an invitation to appear on Ohio's Farm and Home Week program. He will speak at a noon luncheon March 25 in the Ohio Union on the Ohio State University campus.

The luncheon, for farmers and business men, is a feature of Farm and Home Week's Rural-Urban day. Farm and Home Week dates are March 25, 26, and 27.

Khrushchev Reported Asking Hike in Private Land Farms

WARSAW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev is reportedly asking for a hike in private farming in the Soviet Union to boost meat and dairy production.

This would be a reversal of Communist doctrine and a partial return to rural capitalism. It would reflect a lesson taught by Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party will soon hold an important meeting to debate Khrushchev's proposal to eliminate tractor stations in the Soviet Union and distribute their equipment among collective farms, the Polish Communist party organ Trybuna Ludu reported.

But the Soviet party boss wants to go even further, unofficial reports say. He would trim down the size of collectives—the basic units of communism in the countryside—and turn the collectives into state-run grain farms.

The land pared from them would increase the private plots of farm workers who would concentrate on meat and dairy production.

Khrushchev apparently wants to take that radical step in an effort to fulfill his pledge to the Soviet people of more and better food by outstripping per capita

U. S. production of meat, butter and eggs by 1960.

Both Western and Communist observers in Warsaw believe the forthcoming party meeting will prove of major importance for Khrushchev's career. Top Communists say even his plan to abolish tractor stations is a revolution and may run into opposition.

The tractor stations, which provide collectives with their heavy equipment on call, have been the main instrument of Communist control in the countryside. Experts at the stations keep close economic and political tabs on the peasants in their areas.

Khrushchev proposed to eliminate the stations in a speech last month at Minsk. It was made immediately after a secret meeting with Gomulka.

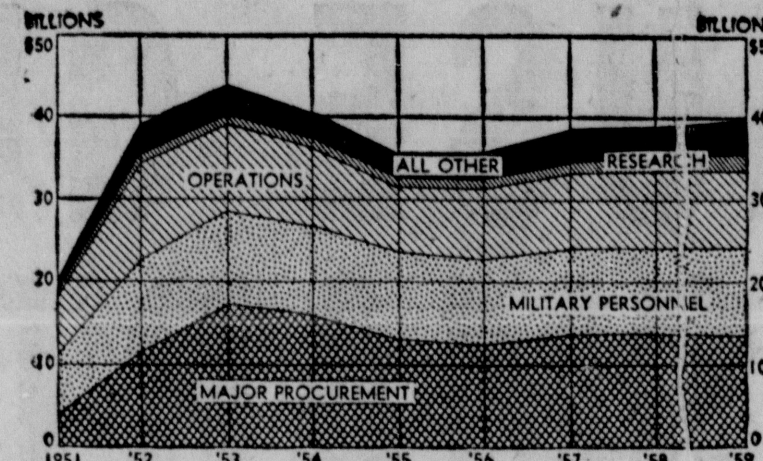

Gomulka's greatest success since he won control of the Polish party in 1956 has been the upsurge in food production. This has been achieved largely by cutting back state and collective farms and giving wider scope to the private initiative of peasants.

School Crossing Guards Ask Boost

CINCINNATI (AP)—School crossing guards here have set up their own union to seek better pay.

The guards secured state incorporation papers Tuesday at Columbus for the School Crossing Guards Union Local 1. A trustee, Otto Beyer, said the reason for organizing is "we don't get enough money." The guards get $1.20 an hour, work a 2½ hour day and averaged $50 to $60 a month.

Among the letters in the handwriting of Abraham Lincoln in the extensive Lincolniana collection at Boston University, many are authenticated. But, there is one which appears genuine, but which university officials have proven to be a forgery.

4-H CLUB NEWS

By Clarence Cunningham

Are you interested in a 4-H project in poultry meat production and marketing? If so, then consider the 1958 Chicken of Tomorrow contest.

This project will give you an opportunity to learn, to earn money, and to earn prizes and recognition. There is not a high investment and the project can be completed with limited facilities.

In this county the project will start on April 13, 14, or 15 and will be climaxed with the judging of dressed cockerels on June 16.

Entry in the contest is limited to 100 birds. Final entry date is April 4. If interested, contact the Extension Office for further information.

Ohio Farm Bureau Sees Drop in Volume

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Cooperative Assn., a 25-year-old marketing and supply service for Ohio farmers, did a $64 million business last year—about $3 million less than the association's 1956 volume.

Kenneth N. Probasco, executive vice president and general manager of the association, told the firm's annual meeting that assets, however, have climbed to $30 million. Net worth is at an all-time high of $16.3 million, he said.

Marvin Reichelderfer was elected president of the club at the organizational meeting held Monday. Other officers elected include Mary Claire Short, vice president; Linda Warner, secretary; Brenda List, treasurer; and Marilyn Moore, news reporter.

The program included a discussion of the breeds of horses and practice in handling the reins of a bridle.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Monday, March 3, at the Fairgrounds. Regular meetings will be held the first and third Mondays of each month. Advisors of the club are Dr. F. P. Duplap, Susan LeValley and Bertha Eakin.

Jury Hikes Price Of Freeway Land

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP)—In the first court decision on 23 suits filed in Morrow County involving the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway, a common pleas jury Tuesday awarded Carl T. Cooper $12,300. It is for land being purchased by the state for the freeway.

The state originally offered Cooper $6,746.50 for about 17 acres of his farm near here. The jury's figure included $3,300 for the land and $9,000 for damage which will be incurred when construction cuts through Cooper's farm.

Noecker New FFA President

Election of officers for the 1958-59 FFA year starting March 1 was the highlight of the monthly meeting of the Walnut Chapter of Future Farmers of America Monday in the Agriculture room of Walnut Twp. School.

Officers elected were President, John Noecker; vice president, Paul Crumley, secretary, Jim Riley; treasurer, Marcus Dresbach; news reporter, Glenn LaRue and sentinel, Norman Bidwell.

Two honorary members and a chapter queen also were elected. The names of these winners will be announced at the annual FFA and FFA Banquet to be held March 21 at the Walnut School. Speaker at the banquet this year will be Stan Augustus, Springfield, Ohio FFA president.

Progress reports were given by the banquet committee chairmen. Walnut FFA members are looking forward to the banquet, which is the highlight of their year activities.

Roger Schneider, chapter president, presided over the meeting.

Northern Ohio Seeks Lake Water

AKRON (AP)—"Northern Ohio cannot grow without water from Lake Erie."

That was the opinion expressed Monday by John H. Byrne, executive director of the Lake Erie Watershed Conservation Committee.

Byrne said the organization has started a drive for legislation in 1959 enabling a start on a $200 million regional network of pipelines which would carry lake water for inland public use.

"We've got to have the same concept of water that we have of electricity and communications," Byrne told a meeting of city and state officials interested in the Members of Jackson, Scioto, and Walnut Chapters are also meeting this week to elect chapter officers for the coming FFA year, which starts March 1.

Membership in the FFA is composed of farm boys who are students of vocational agriculture in high school. The organization's activities are designed primarily to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship, and to stimulate the boys to better achievement in their study and work toward successful establishment in farming or work in allied agriculture occupations.

The National Future Farmer organization has 380,000 members, with 9,000 local chapters in the 48 States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Membership in Ohio is 11,500.

Future Farmers choose the week of George Washington's birthday each year for the observance of National FFA Week. Although usually recognized as a Revolutionary War general and our first president, Washington's first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon. There, he was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertilization, and other soil conservation and improvement methods.

Benson Is Due For OSU Talk

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has accepted an invitation to appear on Ohio's Farm and Home Week program. He will speak at a noon luncheon March 25 in the Ohio Union on the Ohio State University campus.

The luncheon, for farmers and business men, is a feature of Farm and Home Week's Rural-Urban day. Farm and Home Week dates are March 25, 26, and 27.

Khrushchev Reported Asking Hike in Private Land Farms

WARSAW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev is reported unofficially to be seeking to increase private farming in the Soviet Union to boost meat and dairy production.

This would be a reversal of Communist doctrine and a partial return to rural capitalism. It would reflect a lesson taught by Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party will soon hold an important meeting to debate Khrushchev's proposal to eliminate tractor stations in the Soviet Union and distribute their equipment among collective farms, the Polish Communist party organ Trybuna Ludu reported.

But the Soviet party boss wants to go even further, unofficial reports say. He would trim down the size of collectives—the basic units of communism in the countryside—and turn the collectives into state-run grain farms.

The land pared from them would increase the private plots of farm workers who would concentrate on meat and dairy production.

Khrushchev apparently wants to take that radical step in an effort to fulfill his pledge to the Soviet people of more and better food by outstripping per capita

U. S. production of meat, butter and eggs by 1960.

Both Western and Communist observers in Warsaw believe the forthcoming party meeting will prove of major importance for Khrushchev's career. Top Communists say even his plan to abolish tractor stations is a revolution and may run into opposition.

The tractor stations, which provide collectives with their heavy equipment on call, have been the main instrument of Communist control in the countryside. Experts at the stations keep close economic and political tabs on the peasants in their areas.

Khrushchev proposed to eliminate the stations in a speech last month at Minsk. It was made immediately after a secret meeting with Gomulka.

Gomulka's greatest success since he won control of the Polish party in 1956 has been the upsurge in food production. This has been achieved largely by cutting back state and collective farms and giving wider scope to the private initiative of peasants.

School Crossing Guards Ask Boost

CINCINNATI (AP) — School crossing guards here have set up their own union to seek better pay.

The guards secured state incorporation papers Tuesday at Columbus for the School Crossing Guards Union Local 1. A trustee, Otto Beyer, said the reason for organizing is "we don't get enough money." The guards get $1.20 an hour, work a 2½ hour day and averaged $50 to $60 a month.

Among the letters in the handwriting of Abraham Lincoln in the extensive Lincolniana collection at Boston University, many are authenticated. But, there is one which appears genuine, but which university officials have proven to be a forgery.

4-H CLUB NEWS

By Clarence Cunningham

Are you interested in a 4-H project in poultry meat production and marketing? If so, then consider the 1958 Chicken of Tomorrow contest.

This project will give you an opportunity to learn, to earn money, and to earn prizes and recognition. There is not a high investment and the project can be completed with limited facilities.

In this county the project will start on April 13, 14, or 15 and will be climaxed with the judging of dressed cockerels on June 16.

Entry in the contest is limited to 100 birds. Final entry date is April 4. If interested, contact the Extension Office for further information.

Dun Valley 4-H Equitation Club was the name selected for the new 4-H equitation club for Pickaway County youth.

Marvin Reichelderfer was elected president of the club at the organizational meeting held Monday. Other officers elected include Mary Claire Short, vice president; Linda Warner, secretary; Brenda List, treasurer; and Marilyn Moore, news reporter.

The program included a discussion of the breeds of horses and practice in handling the reins of a bridle.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Monday, March 3, at the Fairgrounds. Regular meetings will be held the first and third Mondays of each month. Advisors of the club are Dr. F. P. Dunlap, Susan LeValley and Bertha Eakin.

Jury Hikes Price Of Freeway Land

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP)—In the first court decision on 23 suits filed in Morrow County involving the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway, a common pleas jury Tuesday awarded Carl T. Cooper $12,300. It is for land being purchased by the state for the freeway.

The state originally offered Cooper $6,746.50 for about 17 acres of his farm near here. The jury's figure included $3,300 for the land and $9,000 for damage which will be incurred when construction cuts through Cooper's farm.

Noecker New FFA President

Election of officers for the 1958-59 FFA year starting March 1 was the highlight of the monthly meeting of the Walnut Chapter of Future Farmers of America Monday in the Agriculture room of Walnut Twp. School.

Officers elected were President, John Noecker; vice president, Paul Crumley, secretary, Jim Riley; treasurer, Marcus Dresbach; news reporter, Glenn LaRue and sentinel, Norman Bidwell.

Two honorary members and a chapter queen also were elected. The names of these winners will be announced at the annual FFA and FFA Banquet to be held March 21 at the Walnut School. Speaker at the banquet this year will be Stan Augustus, Springfield, Ohio FFA president.

Progress reports were given by the banquet committee chairmen. Walnut FFA members are looking forward to the banquet, which is the highlight of their year activities.

Roger Schneider, chapter president, presided over the meeting.

Northern Ohio Seeks Lake Water

AKRON (AP)—Northern Ohio cannot grow without water from Lake Erie.

That was the opinion expressed Monday by John H. Byrne, executive director of the Lake Erie Watershed Conservation Committee.

Byrne said the organization has started a drive for legislation in 1959 enabling a start on a $200 million regional network of pipelines which would carry lake water for inland public use.

"We've got to have the same concept of water that we have of electricity and communications," Byrne told a meeting of city and state officials interested in the

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

Many of the get-togethers of these days are more or less carry-overs of the days of long ago, only we have new names for them.

For instance, we have dances nowadays. Years ago many parents would not permit their youngsters to go to dances, but they did let them attend gatherings where they had "party-games."

We are told the most popular one was "swing your partner", quite often set to fiddle music, and with an old-time "caller", who directed the game. Sounds like a square dance, don't you think?

But there was one community gathering, which was quite an event in the early days, that has passed out of the picture entirely. We are thinking of the old-time town meeting, when folks gathered together to make rules and regulations for the government of their town or community, which had the effect of laws, so long as they did not violate any right prescribed by state laws.

Here our forebears, by their votes, made decisions and picked out persons from their numbers, who were vested with the power to see that policies decided on were carried out.

MANY YEARS AGO, though anyone could attend any of these meetings, and enter into all of the discussions or arguments pro or con, some of the folks could not vote. Only voters were those, who, according to the records had paid their poll tax, which was an assessment at so much a head levied on each male person after reaching a certain age.

Maybe some forgot to pay. Others, from pure cussedness, may have refused to pay. However, that was where it came out in the open. When these persons' votes at the town meeting were challenged they either had to pay up to be counted or prove they, for some reason, had been excused from paying.

You can imagine how this

Steubenville College Plans Expansion

STEUBENVILLE (AP)—The Rev. Daniel W. Egan, president of the College of Steubenville, has announced plans to construct four buildings on the campus.

Money for one of the buildings, a library to be built at a cost of about $125,000, came as a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Starvaggi of Weirton, W. Va. It is to be named the Starvaggi Library.

The Franciscan Fathers, whose headquarters are at Loretto, Ga., said they will erect a monastery and chapel out of their own funds.

Father Egan said details on two other buildings, to be built within the year, will be announced later.

Judge Thomas Herbert Ailing in Hospital

COLUMBUS (AP)—Judge Thomas J. Herbert of the Ohio Supreme Court is in a hospital here with bronchial pneumonia.

The former governor was taken to University hospital Monday. Physicians reported that he is in no apparent danger. He is expected to remain in the hospital for about a week.

O'Neill To Meet Press

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill's second news conference since he suffered a heart attack Jan. 22 will be held at the mansion here Thursday.

brought on many unscheduled proceedings to the day's program. Quite often the matter was tabled, but resumed after the meeting on the outside of the meeting house, thus providing free entertainment in the way of a good scrap for those who tarried.

There ordinarily was a lot of electioneering going on, before the meeting got on its way, to get some favorite candidate elected as chairman, and to elect a town clerk.

In many communities the election of these officers was a mere formality. In such places the same men were chosen year after year. (They had been doing a good job and no one ever thought of making a change until they were so old they were no longer capable or became too childish and set in their ways and could no longer be tolerated.)

The start of the meeting was devoted mostly to reports from the different committees, what they had accomplished since the last meeting and proposals of how their department could be bettered. This part of the session was not at all boring, for plenty of fireworks usually developed. There were always those present, who wouldn't take on any of the responsibilities or contribute their time, yet always found fault with those who were doing the work.

Then too, there were those, even as today, who had some screwy ideas they wanted to put over, and got on their feet and launched in to an interminable harangue, which very few listened to, and those who did were glad when it was over.

YOU KNOW, one often wonders why we put up with such boredom, unless it goes back to the fundamental, that we are all entitled to our opinions, and we cannot refuse anyone the right to express their own, unless we expect to be treated the same way.

Though a town meeting began quite early in the morning, it was never over by noon. We suspect that was even planned that way, for the noon recess and the groaning tables of food, prepared by some hard-working women's organization of one of the churches, was always the highlight of the day.

Great quantities of all sorts of food quickly disappeared. Many times the dining facilities were not adequate to care for all at one sitting. This was easily remedied as tables were cleared and reset and new batches of food were set before the late comers. After everyone had their fill and before the afternoon session began, came a short period of relaxation.

Little groups of the women let the dishes go for a while and gathered to discuss their own problems, while the men either sat by the stove, where they fired up their favorite pipes or stogies and took part in some of the discussions going-on, or maybe just dozed for a spell—but no matter how the time was taken up—everywhere, seemingly, was contentment.

This didn't last long, for there was much yet to be done at the afternoon session, and this had to be over by four o'clock, so that the folks could be on their way home and get their chores done before dark.

Those were days of pure democracy, when there was self-reliance and a feeling that everyone had duties as a free citizen. We need more of this today, and there is no better or easier place to revive such principles as in a town or district government.

Oklahoman Tells Of Sending Box Of Cash to Ohio

COLBERT, Okla. (AP)—Bryan County Sheriff Raney Arnold said an elderly woman found an undetermined amount of cash in her garden and mailed it to Cleveland for a relative to exchange for currency in good condition.

Mrs. Johnson told federal authorities in Cleveland when she turned in the money Tuesday that she delayed exchanging it so long because she had been ill.

Arnold said Mrs. Giles, who lives alone in her four-room home here, told him she didn't count the money because it was so rotten. Postal authorities in Cleveland said it was good enough, however, for exchange.

U.S. Auto Assembly Lines Far Behind Midwinter Pace

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor
DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry's assembly lines are running far behind the midwinter pace of 1957.

Most recent tabulations show U. S. factories have built 794,564 passenger cars and 137,207 trucks so far in 1958. In the comparable period last year 1,102,180 cars and 168,930 trucks were produced.

But inventories continue to mount. The stockpile could top 830,000 units by March 1.

At the current rate of sales that would amount to approximately a 60-day supply for the car retailers. A normal supply always has been considered to be around 35 days.

The figures point up the fact the going has become extremely uncertain for the auto makers and retailers. Producer and retailer are watching for signs of an upturn in retail demand.

A modest increase in retail deliveries is not likely to bring a major advance in assembly-line output. Sales would have to show promise of sharply reducing inventories before the manufacturers would increase output.

An 850,000-unit inventory comes close to being unwieldy in a lagging market. Neither manufacturer nor retailer can handle such an inventory during the July-September quarter without a lot of price slashing. Many analysts say the industry's present problems result chiefly from high inventories and price slashing in 1958.

Some industry sources hold the view that fear of a possible widespread work stoppage in the car factories contributes heavily to the reluctance to buy new automobiles right now.

Most auto industry economists continue to say there has been no shrinkage in buying power.

Little Fellow Confused by Economy Terms

Inflation, Deflation
Are Meaningless Big Words to Many Folk

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — To most of us today the state of the economy isn't something to be understood by the use of big words — inflation, deflation, recession, productivity.

It simply is that in spite of the talk of surpluses and easier money our paycheck doesn't stretch any farther or even as far as it did a short time back.

That may be because retail prices tend to stay high although commodity and industrial material prices have fallen. Or it may be that our income has been cut by shorter work weeks or layoffs.

Nor do the big words help the jobless man understand why he can't find work.

Even the experts can't agree about how the big words apply or why some of the old economic laws don't seem to function as they once did. And when you listen to the politicians discuss whether we are going, you get confused, indeed.

Inflation seems to be licked — on paper. But to the average man inflation just means high prices and he can't see that inflation is licked at all. Certainly he can see no deflation, since to him deflation doesn't mean unemployment, it only means lower prices.

To the economic purist inflation means the swelling of the supply of money and credit so that there's more of it to compete for a short supply of goods. The visible result is higher prices, more especially for the scarcer, more desirable goods. For months the Federal Reserve Board fought this by trying to keep the supply of money and credit from swelling. Yet recently the demand for money and credit has decreased. Then the Federal Reserve made more of it available. The visible result was a drop in interest rates.

But retail prices didn't fall, nor did industrial output respond to easier money, nor did consumer buying. Consumers say that is because at today's prices they can't afford to buy more — many are having trouble keeping up former standards.

This has led some to suggest that since making it easier and cheaper for people to borrow hasn't halted the industrial recession as yet, perhaps lowering prices might give the needed boost.

And here you really get into a hassle over why prices are high and why they stay high.

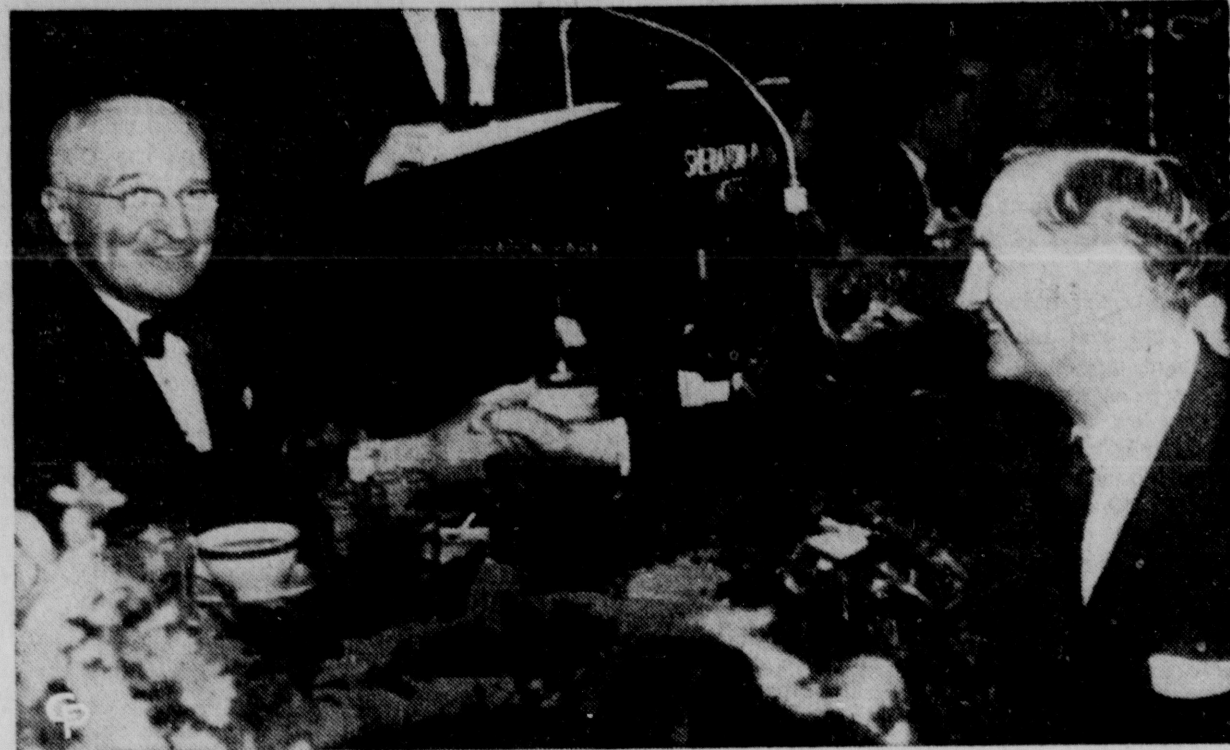

The economic purists say it was monetary inflation of the war and postwar years that set the stage for the high prices we have. Their cures: cut government spending, reduce the federal debt, whittle down taxes, really tighten the money supply. In other words, classical deflation.

Few people are likely to buy that — because the cure is painful. Most seem more ready to buy the status quo of a few months back.

On high retail prices the merchants, distributors and manufacturers will tell you: 1. Labor costs keep on rising; 2. So do freight costs; 3. Consumers demand more costly conveniences and latest performance miracles of their products. Hence the pressures holding retail prices high.

Labor leaders deny that wage scales are the real cause. They dwell on the increased profits of former years. They refuse to believe that prices need be so high. They hold that cutting prices would increase demand, boost production, make more jobs, and benefit every one.

All the average consumer can see, however, is that boom may have given way to slump — but

TRUMAN ATTACKS IKE'S "MISRULE" — Former President Harry S. Truman (left) shakes hands with Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas as they both attended the 100-dollar-a-plate dinner to kick off the Democratic Congressional campaign. In his speech given at the dinner, Mr. Truman accused the Eisenhower administration of five years of economic misrule and predicted Democratic victories in the Congressional elections in 1958 and the presidential election in 1960.

Psychiatrists Plan Tests in Salt Water

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Two psychiatrists from here plan to spend Friday and Saturday in salt water in an attempt to link their reactions to treatment of mental illness.

Dr. Jay T. Shurley and Dr. Louis J. West will participate in an experiment at the National Institute of Mental Health in Bethesda, Md. They hope to find out what happens in the absence of outside sensations.

West, head of the University of Oklahoma Medical School psychiatry department, and Shurley, chief psychiatrist at the Veterans Administration hospital here, will observe each other's reactions in an experiment conducted by Dr. John C. Lilly, physiologist at the institute.

West says some mentally ill persons have symptoms like those of normal persons cut off from all stimulation to the senses.

The doctors will alternate being submerged in a tank filled with salt water. They will be nude and the water will be heated to body temperature. A mask, designed for a minimum of pressure, permits breathing.

West said one subject in a previous study "experienced vivid visual hallucinations and strange bodily sensations that were difficult to describe. Apparently there was a very strong hunger-some sensation. We don't know how long this can be tolerated. This is one of the things we want to find out."

Fraud Defendant Asks Vote Right

CINCINNATI (AP) — Robert Gehan, who pleaded guilty to charges of vote fraud, wants his right to vote back.

Cinderella Boy Discovers New Chance in Show Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What happens to a Cinderella boy after the ball is over?

In the case of Kuldip Singh, the story may well have a happy ending, though there have been moments when he may have doubted it.

Singh is the handsome, 23-year-old native of Kashmir who made a big splash in the entertainment world a year ago. The setup was perfect for one of those heart-warming success stories with which Hollywood abounds.

Born in India, Kuldip left his native land at an early age and lived throughout South America and the Caribbean with his family. His father had a traveling job. As a boy, Kuldip always wanted to be a doctor. He entered the United States to study medicine at UCLA. His main problem: money.

"I wanted to get on the Groucho Marx program, not to perform, but to make some money," he recalled. "So I called the office one day and asked about my chances."

The girl was so intrigued by my accent that she asked me to come in to see them."

He went on the show and made a big hit with the audience, even singing a ballad, though he had never sung in public before. He made only $50 in the quiz and went home to Puerto Rico, figuring the experience a total loss.

But he figured without the draw of the Marx show.

Kuldip's first realization of the impact of his appearance was a phone call from 20th Century-Fox, which wanted him to return for a film test.

He returned and was offered a contract starting at $450 a week. But he was signed up by a big agency which turned down the offer. Bigger things were in store, he was told.

He sang at the Silver Slipper in Las Vegas and was a regular on the Ray Anthony TV show until it went off the air. Then the frost set in.

"For three months, I didn't do anything," he said. "Not a thing. I got lost in a big agency and missed out on jobs because no one was pushing me."

During this period, he thought of returning to the study of medicine. But he decided not to give up. He did what all actors do when they want action in their careers: change agents.

His career surged back with a Matinee Theater performance which drew the second biggest mail response in the TV show's history. He did another matinee last Friday. On April 18 he stars as the son of Aladdin in "Land of Green Ginger" for the Shirley Temple storybook.

With his career prospering again, he has given up his ideas of being a doctor and wants a lifetime in show business.

Bulldogs Fall 52-38 before Fairfield '5'

By J. I. SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

Pleasantville, of Fairfield County, last night slammed the door shut on any New Holland intentions of continuing its basketball season as it defeated the Bulldogs, 52-38, in the first round of the Class "A" district tournament at Capital University's Alumni gymnasium.

Pleasantville, far from looking like a fourth tournament seeded team and a league champion, used its height and speed to advantage to hand the Bulldogs their loss of the 1957-58 season.

New Holland battled the Pleasantville aggregation evenly until early in the second quarter when Pleasantville jumped to an 18-13 lead, never to be relinquished.

New Holland didn't play one of its better games and if it had, the score could have easily read differently. Bulldog John Lininger displayed accuracy under the bucket but his teammates couldn't feed the able pivot man.

Pleasantville was led by Coach Franklin Miller's son, Buddy. Miller shot 30 per cent from the field on six two-pointers in 20 attempts and four free throws to lead the game scoring with 16 points. Miller was unable to hit consistently and was blocked on many efforts to set up a play.

THE BULLDOGS started out like a "ball of fire" taking 8-3 and a 10-5 margins during the first quarter. Lininger tallied five points and Pleasantville altered its defense to concentrate on this dangerous shot, leaving the harmless Bulldog guards to run loose. New Holland made Pleasantville play its type of slow ball game and thereby capitalized. The Bulldogs took their time bringing the ball up court and passed the oval around deliberately.

Pleasantville had no outstanding defense, but was able to steal the ball twice for quick scores. The New Holland's shifting zone defense slowed the Pleasantville pace. The Bulldogs held a two point lead at the first quarter mark, 11-9.

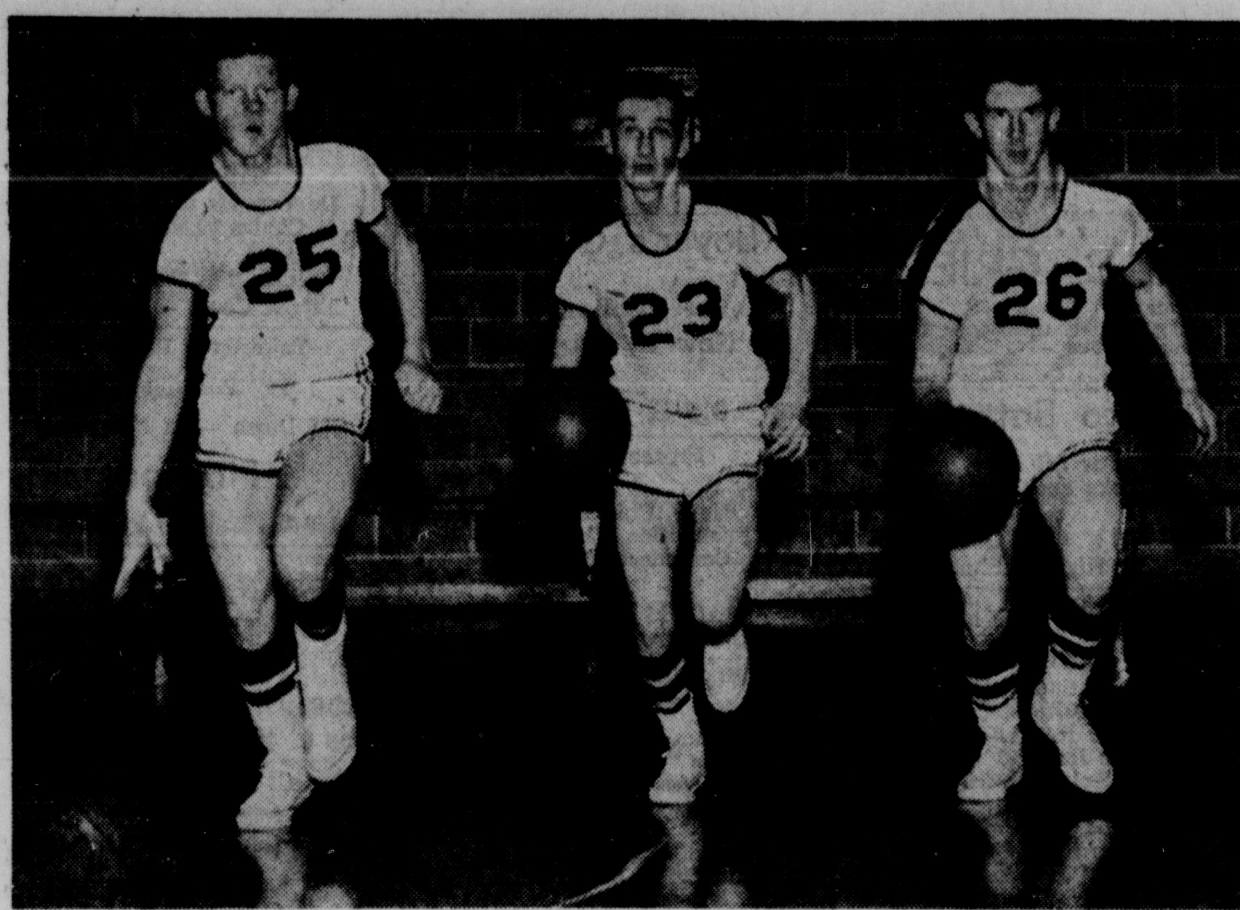

Lininger increased this lead to 13-9 and then New Holland began fouling which aided Pleasantville to nine points before the Bulldogs could retaliate with a jump shot by Roger Yoeman. New Holland only had seven opportunities from the charity line, while Pleasantville had 20.

Throughout the game, the rebounding was the deciding point of the contest. Pleasantville was a much taller team and controlled both boards. Many of Pleasantville's field goals came as a result of tip-ins or offensive rebounds.

Pleasantville led 24-17 at half-time. In the third period the Bulldogs rallied to within three points. Pleasantville based its offense around Miller, who was adept at jump shooting from the side or backcourt. The Fairfield Countians made no attempt to drive against the zone of New Holland.

The third quarter score read 35-30 in favor of Pleasantville. The fourth period was all Pleasantville as again New Holland became rattled and the pace increased. Pleasantville rebounded for the fast break and the well-balanced unit led by the game margin of 14 points the last four minutes.

New Holland wound up its final Pickaway County basketball season with an overall 16-5 record. The first game of the evening saw Jonathan Alder edge a fighting and hepped-up Summit Station, 64-62. Summit played its best game of the year and almost accomplished an upset over the district's second seeded team.

Alder, 19-2, will face Columbus Holy Family, 15-6, in the opening game Thursday and Pleasantville, 17-3, will meet league champion, Carroll, 15-5, in the second game of the night.

Tigers Set Sights For District Play

Coach Dick Boyd and his Circleville cage Tigers are busy this week prepping for their first encounter in the Central District Class AA tournament Saturday night at Grandview High School, Columbus.

The Tigers will meet the winner of the Bexley-Aquinas tilt which is set for Friday night at Grandview. The locals' test is slated to start at 8:30 p. m.

The CHS forces move into the tourney with a 10-8 record. Bexley, champions of the Central Buckeye League, own a 13-3 mark. Aquinas is 5-13 for the season.

Heavy Guard Fails To Faze Boxer in Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown, an old pro and a navy veteran of seven Pacific invasions, wasn't too perturbed today as large forces of police guarded the spanking new $2 million Sports Palace where he fights Cuba's Orlando Echevarria to-night.

Brown, Echevarria and other fighters on the inaugural program for the 18,000-seat arena, also were protected by special police details. The red-faced cops vowed there would be no repetition of the Fongio incident. Juan Manuel Fongio, Argentina's famed auto racing champion, was kidnapped by Fidel Castro's rebels on the eve of the Gran Premio race. Fongio was released unharmed Tuesday.

"I haven't received any threats and I don't expect any," said the 32-year-old champion from New Orleans.

Brown, unbeaten in his last 15 fights, was a 5-1 choice to beat the Cuban lightweight ruler in a nontitle 10-round.

The fight will be telecast via special facilities into the United States for the weekly Wednesday night TV hookup (ABC, 10 p. m., EST). It will be the first live sporting event to be televised from overseas into the U. S.

This will be Echevarria's first TV shot. The 27-year-old southpaw is a fairly good fighter with a 47-19-4 record, including 30 knockouts. Brown has a 68-14-9 record. He also has scored 30 kayos.

Zanesville Heavy Wins Two Bouts

CHICAGO (AP)—Heavyweight Ernie Charles of Zanesville, Ohio, punched out two TKO victories here Tuesday night in the Golden Gloves Tournament.

He stopped Frank Davis of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Eli Wallace of Paducah, Ky., both in the first round.

Joe Stevenson of Zanesville outpointed Ronald Wantz of Muncie, Ind., in the 175-pound class, but was outpointed in turn by Loomis Oglesby of Kansas City.

In the 160-pound class, John Willis of Zanesville was stopped by Darwin Phillips of Omaha earlier.

Wilmington '5' Near Clinching Mid-Ohio Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilmington practically clinched the Mid-Ohio League basketball championship Tuesday night without bouncing a ball, thanks to a fired-up Bluffton team.

The Bluffs, 5-6 in the loop, came from behind to force Findlay into an overtime and then took a 91-89 decision. Findlay had its sights set on at least a share of the Mid-Ohio title.

Bluffton, paced by Abie Mast's 35 points and Ron Kalb's 30, came from behind and held an 82-80 margin with only a second or two left. Findlay stayed in the ball game for another five minutes on a desperation shot from center court by Connie Walcutt.

In the overtime, however, the Oilers never were able to get into the lead.

Findlay still has a slim chance for sharing the crown. The league would wind up in a tie if Cedarville, in last place, defeats Wilmington Thursday at Cedarville.

Cedarville was dropped in the Mid-Ohio cellar when they absorbed an 83-73 defeat at Ashland. The two teams had identical 2-8 league records going into the game.

In two Ohio Conference games, Mount Union (8-4 and 12-5) rolled past Oberlin (6-5 and 11-6), 60-49, and Denison came from behind in the last half to edge Capital 62-60 at Granville. Denison is 8-7 in the conference; Capital is 9-7.

Bowling Green brought home a victory in an out-of-state battle with Loyola of Chicago, 65-63.

Indians Ask: Who's on 2nd?

Lane Still Trying To Arrange a Trade

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Spring training is under way and still the burning question for the Cleveland Indians is: "Who's on second?"

General manager Frank Lane so far has been frustrated in his efforts to get a second baseman from the New York Yankees or the Detroit Tigers. His success in this direction is expected to have an important bearing on the Tribe's hopes of getting back into the first division this year.

Lane, who tried to get Frank Bolling from Detroit, announced Tuesday he had acquired Bolling's brother Milt, also a second baseman, from the Washington Senators. Lane remarked that rookie pitcher Pete Mesa, who went to Washington in the trade, "didn't figure in our plans, and Bolling may be useful as a utility infielder."

Bobby Avila has slowed down since joining the Indians in 1949. He was the regular second baseman last year except for a brief tryout at third. Two other contenders for the job are Fred Hatfield and Larry Raines.

Raines, who played in the Cuban Winter League where Indians field manager Bobby Bragan was managing, failed to convince Bragan he can play second. Hatfield, obtained from the Chicago White Sox in the trade that brought Minnie Minoso to Cleveland, is a good infielder but lacks batting power. His highest major league RBI total was 35 in 1956.

How strongly Lane feels about the second base problem is shown by his use of ace relief pitcher Ray Narleski as trading bait. He worked out a tentative deal at one time which would have sent Narleski to the New York Yankees and brought second baseman Bobby Richardson to the Indians.

Word of the proposed deal—which fell through—brought howls of rage from many Indian fans.

Lane is still trying.

Lane announced the Bolling acquisition to three amateurs to third place in the best ball competition.

quisition in a telephone call from Orlando, Fla., the Senators' spring training headquarters. Bolling, 27, went to Washington in a trade with the Boston Red Sox last April and last year.

Wildlife Chiefs Plan Powwow

Conservation Theme Due To Be Stressed

By DION HENDERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer
The 23rd annual North American Wildlife Conference, greatest clearing house for professional and semiprofessional conservationists on the continent, will be held at St. Louis March 3-5.

Fish and game technicians of the United States and Canada know about the scope of the conference already, because the conference is the place where all of them at one time or another have traded findings, refined policies and generally benefited from an exchange of ideas.

But the North American can be quite an illuminating experience, too, for the sportsman without professional connections in the field. As a matter of fact, the big forum moves from city to city with just that in mind. By the time it closes up shop, along with the National Wildlife Federation and other associated groups that doomsday of the host community meet at the same time, the outdoormen of the host community have had quite a course in conservation.

The St. Louis conference has three general sessions designed to give an over-all view of what's up outdoors. The first, on March 3, will deal with today's opportunities for conservation, with President Delyte W. Morris of Southern Illinois University as chairman.

Youth and natural resources is the discussion subject for the Tuesday meeting, under the chairmanship of Irving Feist, Newark, N.J., waterfowl expert.

On Wednesday, Arthur Carhart of Denver will stir up debate on the fight for conservation, its whys and wherefores.

Anyone may register for these sessions, and they're free. There is no better chance to see the best in conservation ideas displayed by a cast of 1,500.

Basilio Moving Training Camp

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Warm weather and a yearning for home has caused middleweight champion Carmen Basilio to change his training plans for his March 25 meeting with Sugar Ray Robinson in Chicago.

Basilio's co-managers Joe Netro and John DeJohn said Tuesday they were afraid the champion would lose too much weight in the warm weather and are moving to Syracuse, N. Y.

"Carmen also has been homesick, he misses his wife, Kay, and his nephews," they added.

Basilio is well ahead of his training schedule, they said.

Houston Tournament Profit Said $20,000

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Houston Classic golf tournament which ended Monday apparently made a profit of more than $20,000, preliminary estimates indicate.

Officials of the Houston Golf Assn., which sponsored the $30,000 tourney, placed ticket sales at $75,150 and estimated expenditures at $55,000.

The profits finance the association's junior golf program.

Oklahoma Footballers Start Stiff Workouts

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson Tuesday greeted 105 football hopefuls in the first day of spring practice, then put them through a two hour scrimmage, 30 minutes of it rugged.

Wilkinson said the squad would work out four times a week.

Among last year's starters to show up were co-captains Bob Harrison, center, and end Joe Rector, both seniors.

Dakota Brothers Are Rivals In Ohio State-Gopher Tilt

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Joe and Ozzie Carlson, basketball-playing brothers from North Dakota who went separate routes to seek their athletic fortunes, will be reunited this week—as rivals.

Sooner or later in Saturday night's Big Ten meeting here between Minnesota and Ohio State the action will place them in face to face competition.

It will be a proud and perplexing moment for Mr. and Mrs. O. Hugo Carlson of Valley City, N.D., who will be watching their sons in a Big Ten game for the first time.

Who do they root for when Ohio State's Joe is shooting and Minnesota's Ozzie is trying to stop him?

"They've told us they are going to try to be quiet," smiled Ozzie. "Although I don't know how they're going to manage it."

The pride, and in some ways the predicament, reacts just as strongly for the players.

"It's a big moment for us," said 23-year-old Ozzie, an energetic ex-soldier who is a sophomore at Minnesota. "It's a thrill to meet on a Big Ten Court this way, but if it's all the same with the coaches, I think Joe and I would rather not guard each other."

Direct competition between the two, he feels, would saddle each with an emotional burden.

Ozzie at 6-1 is a couple of inches taller than Joe, a 25-year-old junior. The older Carlson spent

Ellwood Given Pact As Buck Grid Aide

COLUMBUS (AP)—Frank Ellwood, quarterback of the 1955-56 Ohio State University football team, is due to take over new duties as defensive backfield coach of the Buckeyes Saturday.

Ellwood has obtained his release from the Dover Board of Education, from his contract as mathematics teacher and assistant Dover high football coach.

At Ohio State he will replace Clive Rush, who has joined the University of Oklahoma staff.

nearly four years in the Air Force after playing at North Dakota. Service friends interested him in Ohio State and he transferred. Joe has hit 196 points in 21 games as a regular.

Marshall Denied Chance in NIT

DAYTON (AP)—The Mid-American Conference commissioner, Dr. David E. Reese, has quickly squashed any Marshall College hopes of playing in the National Invitation Basketball Tourney.

Marshall's president, Dr. Stewart H. Smith, was reported to have wired Reese, seeking conference permission to play in the tourney, which starts in New York March 13. Reese said Tuesday it would be impossible for the Huntington, W. Va., school to play.

Conference rules state that no team shall participate in post-season games other than those conducted by or approved by the NCAA and approved by the commissioner.

Wildlife Chiefs Plan Powwow

Conservation Theme Due To Be Stressed

By DION HENDERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

The 23rd annual North American Wildlife Conference, greatest clearing house for professional and semiprofessional conservationists on the continent, will be held at St. Louis March 3-5.

Fish and game technicians of the United States and Canada know about the scope of the exchange already, because the conference is the place where all of them at one time or another have traded findings, refined policies and generally benefited from an exchange of ideas.

But the North American can be quite an illuminating experience, too, for the sportsman without professional connections in the field. As a matter of fact, the big forum moves from city to city with just that in mind. By the time it closes up shop, along with the National Wildlife Federation and other associated groups that doomsday of the host community have had quite a course in conservation.

The St. Louis conference has three general sessions designed to give an over-all view of what's up outdoors. The first, on March 3, will deal with today's opportunities for conservation, with President Delyte W. Morris of Southern Illinois University as chairman.

Youth and natural resources is the discussion subject for the Tuesday meeting, under the chairmanship of Irving Feist, Newark, N.J., waterfowl expert.

On Wednesday, Arthur Carhart of Denver will stir up debate on the fight for conservation, its whys and wherefores.

Anyone may register for these sessions, and they're free. There is no better chance to see the best in conservation ideas displayed by a cast of 1,500.

Basilio Moving Training Camp

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Warm weather and a yearning for home has caused middleweight champion Carmen Basilio to change his training plans for his March 25 meeting with Sugar Ray Robinson in Chicago.

Basilio's co-managers Joe Netro and John DeJohn said Tuesday they were afraid the champion would lose too much weight in the warm weather and are moving to Syracuse, N.Y.

"Carmen also has been homesick; he misses his wife, Kay, and his nephews," they added.

Basilio is well ahead of his training schedule, they said.

Houston Tournament Profit Said $20,000

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Houston Classic golf tournament which ended Monday apparently made a profit of more than $20,000, preliminary estimates indicate.

Officials of the Houston Golf Assn., which sponsored the $30,000 tournament, placed ticket sales at $75,150 and estimated expenditures at $55,000.

The profits finance the association's junior golf program.

Oklahoma Footballers Start Stiff Workouts

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson Tuesday greeted 105 football hopefuls in the first day of spring practice, then put them through a two hour scrimmage, 30 minutes of it rugged.

Wilkinson said the squad would work out four times a week.

Among last year's starters to show up were co-captains Bob Harrison, center, and end Joe Rector, both seniors.

Annual Jaycee DSA Banquet Slated for Tuesday Night

The Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual Distinguished Service Award banquet Tuesday in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

The banquet, held in conjunction with the Circleville Kiwanis Club, is to announce and honor the DSA winner for 1957. Headlining the program will be guest speaker Maynard "Jack" Sensenbrenner, mayor of Columbus.

The banquet will begin at 6:30 p. m. Toastmaster will be Robert Johnson, 706 N. Court St. and introduction of guests and speaker will be by Circleville Solicitor Robert Huffer.

The DSA award is presented to an active civic-minded young Circleville male between the ages of 21 and 35. He must be an outstanding citizen of the community for leadership and service rendered. The nominee need not be a member of the Jaycees.

The judging, by an anonymous committee of Circleville citizens until after the announcement, considers nominees on the basis of 100 points. Fifty points maximum are allowed for the young man's contribution to community welfare during the year.

TWENTY-FIVE POINTS maximum are allotted for evidence of leadership ability. A maximum of 25 points is given for personal or business progress.

Numerous Circleville civic organizations submit nominations and are asked to give reasons for the nomination. References are also required.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, the guest speaker, is one of many candidates entered in the race for the Democratic nomination for Ohio governor. "Jack" is a Circleville native and graduated from Circleville High School.

The DSA committee is composed of Jaycees headed up by chairman, Johnson. Also on the committee are Ed Webb, 109 Dunmore; Donald Crist, 843 N. Atwater Ave.; Gordon Anderson, Northridge Road, and Warden Skinner, 947 S. Pickaway St.

The public is invited and tickets may be purchased from any Jaycee.

St. Joseph's School Slates Columbus Opera Club Program

The St. Joseph's School, W. Mound St., is sponsoring a program by the Columbus Opera Club in the St. Philip's Parish Hall, W. Mound St., at 8:15 p. m. Sunday.

The Columbus Opera Club has chosen to present "The Seven Last Words of Christ," a sacred cantata for solo and chorus, under the direction of Robert Barr.

The Columbus Opera Club is a 35-year organization. The aims of the amateur organization are to present the best of grand and light opera and oratorios, to further musical, cultural and educational efforts and to furnish opportunity for the diversified talents of the individual members.

Those participating in the program are Irene Ragan, William sport, who did considerable radio and concert work in Pittsburgh, Robert Sheets, a former student of Capital University; William Sereque, Cincinnati, and Martha Hoebeke, the accompanist.

Tickets are available at Paul's Dairy Store, W. Main St.

House Studies Hike in Soil Bank Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House takes final action today on a last-minute decision to add $250 million to the farm soil bank program "to keep faith with the farmers."

The extra money was added Tuesday to a general appropriation bill which comes up for passage. The change would increase to $750 million the amount farmers may be paid this year for retiring surplus cropland.

Approval of the soil bank funds came on a standing 120-57 vote after the program was denounced as unsound and outlandish.

Rep. Whitten (D-Mass.) said in the long run the program "is going to do more damage than good." But he urged approval of the funds to keep faith with farmers who signed up to participate in the soil bank but who were excluded when the $500 million originally earmarked for 1958 was exhausted.

The House also added an amendment to limit payments under the extra allotment to $3,000 for any individual or corporate farm participant, regardless of the number of farms affected.

The original law also has a $3,000 limitation but it has been interpreted to apply to each farm.

Speeding Patrolman Chided by Speeder

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. Fay Gardner said a state trooper driving Lord Hailsham, head of Britain's Conservative party, in Gov. Frank Clement's car, stopped her and lectured her for speeding.

But she said she was only keeping up with the trooper, who was setting a 60 m.p.h. pace through 30 and 40 m.p.h. speed zones.

"He doesn't have any right to drive any faster than I do," said Mrs. Gardner. The trooper did not give Mrs. Gardner a ticket.

Corwin PTA Ready For Annual Sale

The Circleville Corwin Street Parent Teachers Assn. will sponsor a food sale Friday, in the Sears Roebuck and Co. Store at 123 W. Main St.

The sale will begin at 1 p. m. A prize cake will be baked by Mrs. John Miller, Court St., who was a first prize winner at the 1957 Pumpkin Show. The cake will be delivered to the winner.

Sale posters are now appearing in the local downtown stores. The placards were made by the 5th and 6th graders of Corwin St. school. Proceeds from the sale will be used for the benefit of the school.

Firemen on Sitdown During 2 Fire Calls

SALEM, Mo. (AP) — Salem's 10 volunteer firemen and Chief Ray Johnson all quit in a dispute with the City Council.

There were two fire alarms Tuesday in this Ozarks town of 3,600 about 100 miles southwest of St. Louis. The firemen stayed put. They were only small grass fires and nearby residents pitched in to extinguish them.

The firemen complained that Council refused to listen to their grievances at its meeting Monday night. The volunteers have been getting $3 apiece for every alarm. They asked $5.

Slip-Up

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Adjutant Section of the Little Rock Air Force Base headquarters ran off several thousand card forms to be filled out by airmen stationed at the base. The cards were to be used in a locator file to provide personnel data at a glance. There were numerous items to be completed on each card but one item was left off—"Name."

Leopold Loses Puerto Rico Mission Job

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — An Illinois state law does not permit Nathan Leopold to go to Puerto Rico on parole, says the state public safety director.

Director Joseph D. Bibb said Tuesday that Illinois has no pact for exchange of parolees with Puerto Rico.

Leopold, who was granted parole last week and who is expected to be released from Stateville Prison sometime next month, had said he could work as a laboratory technician for a mission hospital in Puerto Rico.

Bibb said an Illinois law permits the establishing of parole pacts with other states, U.S. territories and possessions. However, he cited a 1955 opinion by Atty. Gen. Latham Castle holding there was no parole compact between Illinois and Puerto Rico, now classified as a commonwealth.

Leopold, who also has said he has other job offers, has been in Stateville for more than 33 years for his part in the kidnap-slaying of Bobby Franks, 14, in Chicago in 1924.

New Fish Licenses Now on Sale Here

Fishing licenses for 1958 now are on sale at local and area business establishments according to Robert Wolf, secretary of the Pickaway County Farmers and Sportsmen's Assn.

Wolf said 1957 licenses expire Friday. Fishermen must have the new permits by March 1 he added.

Annual Jaycee DSA Banquet Slated for Tuesday Night

The Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual Distinguished Service Award banquet Tuesday night in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

The banquet, held in conjunction with the Circleville Kiwanis Club, is to announce and honor the DSA winner for 1957. Headlining the program will be guest speaker Maynard "Jack" Sensenbrenner, mayor of Columbus.

The banquet will begin at 6:30 p. m. Toastmaster will be Robert Johnson, 706 N. Court St. and introduction of guests and speaker will be by Circleville Solicitor Robert Huffer.

The DSA award is presented to an active civic-minded young Circleville male between the ages of 21 and 35. He must be an outstanding citizen of the community for leadership and service rendered. The nominee need not be a member of the Jaycees.

The judging, by an anonymous committee of Circleville citizens until after the announcement, considers nominees on the basis of 100 points. Fifty points maximum are allowed for the young man's contribution to community welfare during the year.

TWENTY-FIVE POINTS maximum are allotted for evidence of leadership ability. A maximum of 25 points is given for personal or business progress.

Numerous Circleville civic organizations submit nominations and are asked to give reasons for the nomination. References are also required.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, the guest speaker, is one of many candidates entered in the race for the Democratic nomination for Ohio governor. "Jack" is a Circleville native and graduated from Circleville High School.

The DSA committee is composed of Jaycees headed up by chairman, Johnson. Also on the committee are Ed Webb, 109 Dunmore; Donald Crist, 843 N. Atwater Ave.; Gordon Anderson, Northridge Road, and Warden Skinner, 947 S. Pickaway St.

The public is invited and tickets may be purchased from any Jaycee.
